COUNTY'S FLOOD LOSS $1,000,000

Green, A. F. L. Chief, Expelled By United Mine Workers Union

LEWIS GROUP TERMS HIM 'TRAITOR'

Action in G. M. Strike
Results in Reprisal
By Organization

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The United Mine Workers policy committee directed the union officers today to expel William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, from the union.

In a resolution the committee found Green guilty of "treason" and "a betrayal of labor, its principles and its ideals."

The miners' union is affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization which is seeking to bring workers in each large industry into one big union. Such a policy is opposed to traditional A. F. of L. craft unionism.

Member 40 Years
Last year the A. F. of L. suspended the miners union and nine others for "insurrection."

Green has been a member of the United Mine Workers for about 40 years and for many years was secretary-treasurer.

The miners' committee assailed Green particularly for his activities in connection with the recent General Motors strike.

Both Green and John P. Frey, president of the A. F. of L. metal trades department, "did everything in their power to assist General Motors in their efforts to divide, destroy and render impotent the United Automobile Workers," its resolution said.

John L. Lewis, president of the mine workers, is chairman of the C. I. O.

After commending the agreement that settled the strike, the resolution said:

Part of Resolution

"The president of the American Federation of Labor, continuing his treacherous attitude, has referred to the settlement as being a surrender, notwithstanding that the agreement provides for collective bargaining and consideration of the additional demands of the auto workers for wages and working conditions and has been sanctioned and approved by the United Automobile Workers."

The resolution concluded:

"We condemn the President of the American Federation of Labor, William Green, and his academic friend, Col. John P. Frey, for their gratuitous, insulting, anti-union, strikebreaking statements and we call upon American labor to repudiate these individuals in their unwarranted, traitorous actions..."

BAND LEADER SLAYS WIFE

IOWA CITY, Iowa, (AP)—Officers claimed today to have a confession by Walter (Dusty) Rhodes, 31, Iowa City orchestra leader, that he carried out the dynamite slaying of his wife so he could be free to marry another woman to whom he was financially indebted.

W. W. Akers, chief of the state bureau of investigation, said Rhodes confessed after attending funeral services for his wife, Mabel, 31, Saturday and would be charged with murder.

Rhodes told officers, Akers said, he filled a shotgun shell with dynamite, inserted it in the gun and then induced his wife to pull the trigger on the pretext of testing the firing pin. The gun exploded, almost decapitating Mrs. Rhodes, mother of two children.

Tamales? Mexico Has Street Cars

By BOB GUILD

The talk, somehow, veered around to food.

"Take a tamale," the boss said. "Now there's a thing. On a nice cold day like this, with a little shredded lettuce and a bottle of beer..."

"I," said the reporter, "lean just a little toward the t-bone."

"Tamales," said the boss, "have got umpph. They got stuff. They're Mexican. You can almost hear the castanets clicking!"

"Yeah," said the reporter, "and the señoritas and the fandango and the tuna fishing."

"Guild," said the boss, "nuff said. Go get a story about tamales. I'm hungry."

Which led toward La Chiquita, less a señorita than a grocery-store and more a tamale factory than anything else. Tamales, unlike swiss steaks or caviar, are made in factories, like brooms and (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

BOMB SHIPS OF BRITISH WILL REWARD BOURBONS

War Vessels Fire Back at Spanish Airplane Off
Algeria Coast

LONDON, (AP)—Two British destroyers opened fire when an airplane, "believed to be a Spanish insurgent plane" attempted to bomb them off the coast of Algeria, official circles disclosed today.

The plane dropped six bombs near the destroyers Navock and Gypsy while the vessels were stationed near Cape Tenez. The bombs did no damage to the ships.

22 SLAIN AS WARSHIP
SHELLS VALENCIA

VALENCIA, Spain, (AP)—At least 22 persons were known to have been killed and 55 others injured in an insurgent naval bombardment of this city.

Scores of public and private buildings were damaged, government officials said after a survey of the effects of the shelling last night by an insurgent cruiser which crept close off shore and fired 35 shells into the city, temporary seat of the government.

FRANCE PREPARED TO DEMAND HANDS OFF

PARIS, (AP)—France, with warning words to Italy, is prepared to demand international control of foreign support for the Spanish insurgents by Feb. 28.

Predictions that a Franco-British blockade of the Portuguese coast would be sought if Portugal remained adamant against supervision of its borders followed Premier Leon Blum's declaration that France cannot accept continued violations of non-intervention.

Blum told Italian Ambassador Vittorio Cerruti that the landing of Italian forces near Malaga, Spain, was a flagrant violation of non-intervention and that France will not tolerate "open invasion" of Spain.

Union Dispute
Holds Up Liner

SAN PEDRO, (AP)—A union dispute over the eligibility of 14 engineers, flown here from New York by the Panama-Pacific Company, halted the sailing of its intercoastal liner California early today.

Three hundred passengers and 5,000 tons of cargo were aboard for the expected departure. West coast unionists in the California's crew refused to handle the vessel until they decided the status of the imported seamen.

and it shook the hostelry, 125 miles south of Fairbanks, but Mrs. Revell was too busy looking after the needs of her husband and their son, Harry, and caring for the wants of visiting scientists and excursionists, to worry at the moment.

Her husband supported her determination to remain with the house until the last minute. Their possessions, however, were packed for instant flight.

ATLANTIC AIR MAIL FUNDS APPROVED

House Committee Puts Okeh on Huge Bill
for P. O. Treasury

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The House appropriations committee approved a bill today to make $1,500,955, 151 available to the treasury and postoffice departments for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The bill was the second regular appropriation measure of the session and carried $350,000 to permit establishment of a trans-Atlantic air mail service beginning about Nov. 1. Postoffice officials plan to operate the service at first on a two-trips-a-week basis.

Approximately one-third of the total appropriation—$500,000,000—was earmarked for the old-age pensions reserve account under the social security program. This was almost 50 per cent more than the amount for that purpose last year.

Criticism Handling
The bill carried a total of $718,485,790 for the treasury and $782,469,361 for the postoffice department. Although the committee lopped $3,275,117 from budget estimates for the postal service, that appropriation was $1,884,772 more than the amount provided for the current year.

The treasury's share exceeded the present year's figure by $233,015,377, but still was $11,765,950 below that recommended by the budget bureau.

In making its recommendations to the house, the committee criticized the treasury's method of handling appropriations for administrative purposes of the emergency banking and gold and silver purchase acts as "bound to produce in some measure unsatisfactory administrative conditions."

No Public Building
Most of the trouble, the committee indicated, lay in the difficulty of ascertaining from what administration funds the treasury personnel was employed. The bill carries $1,375,000 for administration of the three acts.

Other major treasury items in the bill included $24,648,000 for the coast guard; $993,810 for the secret service; $20,746,980 for the public health service; and $7,500,000 for the bureau of the mint.

The bill included no funds for public building construction. The budget bureau recommended $23,000,000 for this purpose, but the committee said the subject would be considered later in a deficiency bill.

C. I. O. Proposes
Collusion Probe

WASHINGTON, (AP)—John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization proposed today a federal investigation of the "possibility of collusion" in the steel industry's failure to bid on steel needed for the navy building program.

AAA TAX TO BURKE PLANS GET REVIEW COURT MOVE

Supreme Court Agrees
To Judge Litigation
On Processing Fee

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed today to review litigation over the law prohibiting refunds of invalidated Agricultural Adjustment Administration processing and floor stock taxes unless proof is given that the levies had not been shifted to the consumers.

The justices consented to pass on an appeal filed by the Anniston, Ala., manufacturing company in its effort to recover $270,000 paid the government. The company lost in the fifth circuit court of appeals.

The court agreed to review this controversy after meeting briefly to hand down one minor decision. It adjourned for two weeks, thereby delaying decisions on constitutionality of the Washington law reestablishing minimum wages for women and on whether the 1933 congressional resolution abrogating payment of obligations in gold applied to bullion as well as coin.

Action also was postponed for at least two weeks on a petition for reconsideration of its present 4 to 4 decision upholding the New York unemployment insurance law, which supplements the federal social security act.

The court refused to review litigation brought by five Texas rice millers and by the Sheridan, Wyo., Flour Mills attacking constitutionality of the 1936 revenue act.

Navy Probes
Plane Death

SAN DIEGO, (AP)—Navy authorities today investigated the crash death of Lieut. L. Q. Forbes, 27, whose body was found in the wreckage of his navy fighting plane 60 miles east of here.

Discovery of the wreck yesterday ended a search which started when Lieut. Forbes, en route from Norfolk, Va., to San Diego, disappeared after leaving Yuma, Ariz., Saturday.

His single-seater plane, apparently flying through a storm, clipped the tops of pine trees and crashed into a mountainside.

Roads Blocked By Washouts; Levees On River Weaken

Flood damage in Orange county soared to the million-dollar mark today as crews of men continued a desperate battle to hold the shifting Santa Ana river in its banks.

The third of a succession of week-end storms struck Orange county late Saturday afternoon, bringing with it the threat of a widespread and devastating flood. Rain poured down in torrents on the county, flooding many areas and causing considerable property damage. The storm brought Santa Ana about four inches of rain, Capistrano 6.71 inches.

Fair weather for tonight and Tuesday was predicted today by the U. S. Weather bureau, ending for the time being further threats of flood damage in Orange county.

Levees Weakened
While the water in the Santa Ana river did not rise as high as in the previous week-end flood, the danger was even greater during this week-end than at any time before. The ground was saturated.

NO FISHING! THIS IS SANTA ANA!

A group of youngsters enjoyed a boating party in a walnut grove on the east side of North Santa Ana boulevard yesterday, but they couldn't go fishing.

A sign in the orchard said: "No fishing. This is Santa Ana."

urated with water before the rainfall started. River levees were weakened, making a perilous situation along the river in at least three areas.

At noon today Orange County Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson reported that apparently danger from the week-end flow was over. From 2:30 p. m. yesterday until 11 a. m. today the river had dropped four feet at Prado, running but 1200 second feet at that point.

Homes Damaged
Unofficial but conservative estimates of the total damage from the two floods were about $1,000,000 in Orange county so far. Damage to county roads was greater in the flood of this week-end than in the previous flood. State highway damage alone now totals more than $250,000. Damage to homes inundated by storm waters and to other property brought the total loss upward.

Many roads throughout the county were impassable over the week-end, and dangerous conditions prevailed on some roads. Cars were stalled in all parts of the county. Traffic was tied up in knots. Many families were forced to leave their homes.

Although the amount of water which flowed down the Santa Ana river was estimated at a little more than half of the flood of the previous week-end, more damage (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

Sea Washes Up
Cow, But It's Not a Sea Cow

All was quiet in the Newport Beach police department, until the telephone rang.

Then an excited resident asked for immediate police aid.

"There's a cow on the beach here," she said.

"A sea cow?" asked the policeman.

"No, a real cow," the agitated resident replied.

So the policemen investigated and found the remains of someone's boss, washed up from last week's storm.

Woman Defies Advancing Glacier

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, (AP)—A courageous Alaska woman today defied runaway Black Rapids glacier to frighten her from her roadhouse home which lay in the path of the thundering ice mass.

Housework went on as usual for Mrs. H. E. Revell in Black Rapids roadhouse, threatened with eventual destruction if the glacier, less than a mile away, continued its advance.

The glacier rumbled and roared and it shook the hostelry, 125 miles south of Fairbanks, but Mrs. Revell was too busy looking after the needs of her husband and their son, Harry, and caring for the wants of visiting scientists and excursionists, to worry at the moment.

Her husband supported her determination to remain with the house until the last minute. Their possessions, however, were packed for instant flight.

"I'm not afraid," said Mrs. Revell. "The glacier's still about a mile away and it's not moving fast now. We have in lots of supplies. The glacier makes a lot of noise and it does sometimes shake the house, but that doesn't keep us from sleeping."

The 30-mile-long glacier last year was merely an object of interest to the family before it began its movement two weeks ago, Mrs. Revell said. It was considered a "dying" glacier then and its face had receded for centuries.

Contrasting with the ice-age drama being enacted, airplanes bearing scientists and sightseers alighted on the ice of Big Delta river. Otto Geist, curator of the University of Alaska's museum at Fairbanks, was the first scientist on the ground after learning the glacier had marched five miles in two weeks.

RED CROSS IS TO OBSERVE BIRTHDAY

Annual Dinner Will Be Staged Tomorrow at Baptist Church

Santa Ana Red Cross chapter will celebrate its twentieth birthday anniversary tomorrow evening when it convenes for its annual dinner at 6 o'clock in the First Baptist church. Representatives from all the branches in the chapter as well as from churches and civic organizations in the district are expected.

A. L. Schafer, manager of the Pacific branch area, now in the flood area at Louisville, Ky., supervising relief work, and Mrs. Esther Chaddourn, field representative for this district, who is ill with influenza, will be unable to attend as speakers. However, an interesting program has been arranged, with the first aid demonstration by the Santa Ana police department presenting a first aid demonstration.

Sergeant B. A. Hershey is at the head of the team, and will be assisted by George Boyd, William Nielsen, Bren Moreland and Burdette Lane. James Williams, Red Cross first aid instructor of the police department, will accompany the team.

Reservations for the dinner are being taken by Miss Margaret L. Esau, chapter secretary.

The same program is planned for the annual meeting of Fullerton chapter tonight at 6:30 o'clock at the Placentia Round table clubhouse, the police team making its first public appearance at that time. Lloyd Verry, chapter chairman, will preside.

MORE ABOUT HIGH WATER

to river levees was done than before.

Highly dangerous situations exist at the Yorba bridge, where swift currents of water are eaten away the protecting river banks, and at two other points.

The river is shifty and dangerous. No one can tell what it will do. All engineering data so far has shown that the river channel in the vicinity of West Orange could not carry more than 6000 second feet of water. But Saturday a week ago the river at that point carried in excess of 8000 second feet. On the following Monday morning the flow there was but 2500 second feet, and the river nearly broke out of bounds.

Crews of men have been fighting the river at that point ever since the rain started Saturday last. Hundreds of sand bags have been thrown into the break in the levee in an effort to keep the river from breaking out. More than 50 men worked all during the week-end above and below Santa Fe railroad crossing on the river, filling in the widening gap in the levee. Another bad situation exists at the Ocean avenue break, which caused much trouble during the first flood of this season.

At noon yesterday about 7000 second feet of water was pouring down the river at the county line. Riverside county officials reported a drop of six inches in the level late yesterday afternoon. The flood water came in peculiar fashion, coming in a number of peaks, which was fortunate.

Rain in Mountains
Flood control officials could not understand why the heavy rainfall in the mountains did not result in a higher flow in the Santa Ana river in Orange county, unless it was because the surges of

Flood Menaces Mexican Camps

La Jolla Mexican colony, south of Placentia, suffered severe damage from surface runoff, which carried a rushing stream, more than four feet deep, through the center of a cluster of homes. Occupants of this house, and others like it, took shelter with neighbors Saturday and Sunday nights.

water came at intervals and not all at once. It was pointed out that from 7 o'clock Saturday morning until the same time yesterday 7.1 inches of rain fell at Big Bear. Ordinarily this would mean a big flood down here. Cold weather in the mountains kept the snow from melting, holding back a large part of the runoff waters.

At no time since 1908 has as much rain fallen in Orange county during a 24-hour period as during the last two storms. Only three times has the mark of five inches of rainfall recorded on Feb. 9 in 24 hours been exceeded by an entire storm. Three times were for six days following Feb. 11, 1927, when 6.81 inches fell during the entire storm; April 5, 1926, when 5.59 inches fell during a five-day period; and Dec. 18, 1921, when 5.51 inches fell six days following. On Feb. 6 of this year alone, five inches of rain fell here.

San Juan Storm
The barometer started rising at 9 p. m. yesterday, indicating an end to the present rain storm, which brought San Juan Capistrano one of the heaviest rainfalls was recorded. Carl Hankey reported that as much rain has fallen there in the past three days as was recorded during all of last year.

Hankey measured 6.71 inches over the week-end. The total for the entire season last year was but 6.77 inches, he said.

San Juan Capistrano's total for this year now stands at 20.51 inches, passing the 20-inch mark for the third time since 1904, Hankey added. During the year of the "big flood" in 1916, but 19.03 inches fell in that area, according to his figures; 5.49 inches fell in one day, Feb. 16, 1927, the other big flood of recent Orange county history occurred, Hankey added.

During the 1916 storm, rain fell steadily for 21 days, with 11.74 inches falling during the storm period, Hankey reported.

Shock at H. B.
Slight earthquake shocks felt in Huntington Beach at 12:15 and 1:15 a. m. yesterday added to the fright of families. A score of families, frightened by the rising waters, deserted their houses.

More flood water flowed into the Huntington Beach district in some places than was the case in the flood of last week-end, it was reported by City Engineer Harry Overmeyer. Water flowed into a number of homes, and at least 15 families were forced to evacuate their houses. Five inches of water flowed through some of the houses. Three feet of water settled on Thirteenth and other streets. The flat land east of Hampshire street was a vast lake. The Delaware lake area was full of water and overflowing. Sand bags were piled around the sewer plant to keep the high water out.

City Engineer Herman Hiltcher

at Fullerton reported that several families in the city had to be removed from their homes because of flood conditions. Water was especially high on South Cornell street and in that vicinity. A washout on Highway 101 south of Hillcrest Park was reported.

Many citrus trees washed out the river lodged against the bridges in Fullerton. The entire Commonwealth area was flooded. More water in the eastern part of the city was reported than in the previous flood.

Washout at Anaheim
In Anaheim, City Engineer E. P. Haggood reported all previous repair work washed out. Water was high in the north part of town. Cars were stalled and water ran into a number of homes. The city watched with concern the dangerous situation on the Santa Ana river at Yorba bridge, where swift cross currents ate away at the river walls. Should this section of the river go out, the water would pour down into Anaheim.

South of Santa Ana streets and highways were flooded, the water standing higher in some places than in the flood of last week. Cars were stalled on South Main street, where the water stood two and a half feet deep.

High Waters Here
The Martin Airport and many surrounding acres of land were deep lakes of flood water. Many basements of homes in the city, in addition to the Edison school basement, were flooded, including the home of Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson. Thompson also had a small flood control problem in his basement during the last storm. Some damage to pavements from the water was reported by City Engineer J. L. McBride.

Water was reported to be slightly less high in the Cape Cove area than was the case in the last flood, entering only one grocery store and the post office. Sand bags were piled in front of all stores to keep out the water. The Pacific Electric lines were reported to be undamaged to some extent. Cars were continuing to flood, but traveling slowly over damaged sections.

Laguna canyon road was closed with a break in the highway at Canyon Acres, a mile from Laguna Beach. Further damage was expected if the rains continued, as lakes were full of water. Workmen were busy all day with sand bags attempting to hold in the bridge on the coast boulevard over Capistrano creek. While there was not as much water as last week, the creek bed had widened, making the bridge dangerous.

Muddy water rushed through the streets at Laguna Beach, it was reported, transforming the streets into canals of soupy mud.

At the Bay Shore camp, an auto court, at Newport, houses were washed almost into Upper Newport bay, and at Costa Mesa, east of Newport, a foot of mud swirled through streets and houses, flooding basements of residences.

At Talbert, five miles northeast of Huntington Beach, residences along the highway were undermined for half a mile and the highway was entirely submerged.

Manchester Closed
State and county road crews battled continuously over the week-end in a desperate effort to keep traffic flowing along the main arteries. The situation had cleared up to some extent today, with the only road closed being Manchester boulevard northwest of Buena Park. It was expected that this road would be opened some time today.

During the week-end, however, traffic was held up at many points. Santa Ana canyon road was closed for some time, and even when opened was reported to be in a dangerous condition. Last night the Coast route was open via Seventeenth street, Costa Mesa, but was closed at San Mateo creek just below the county line. Today it was open for traffic.

Highway Damage
Other roads which were closed included Lane road, Irvine boulevard, Silverado canyon road, Santiago canyon road, Esperanza road east of Richfield, all Santiago creek crossings, Cambridge, Collins, Santiago avenue, all dips in the Santa Ana river, Huntington Beach boulevard, Lincoln avenue and others.

Orange county state highway officials conservatively estimated damage from the two floods at a quarter of a million dollars. They reported all roads to San Diego in Orange county open for light traffic. Considerable additional damage to highways was reported. Work started on repairs washed out.

Traffic is proceeding South from San Clemente very slowly, with a one-way control established at San Mateo creek, near San Onofre. Trucks are not allowed to pass through this badly damaged section.

Closed at Galivan
Highway 101 was closed last night at Galivan, and no cars allowed to travel either way because of several feet of mud across the highway. One-way traffic, moving very slowly under control, can reach San Clemente and Southern points over San Juan creek at Dana Point. McKinley avenue, which was used during the last storm as a means of reaching Capistrano from Laguna, has been washed out completely, it was reported.

County Road Superintendent A. A. Beard said that the full extent of damage to county roads may not show up for six or eight weeks. Where roads were undermined, traffic will cause the pavement to crack and fall, it was reported. It was said that the flood of this week-end brought more damage to county roads than the one of the previous week-end. Water was higher in the Los Alamitos district than during the previous flood. Flood water flowed in places this week-end where it did not the previous week-end. The Huntington Beach boulevard below Westminster was badly damaged, rushing waters undermining the pavement.

Mails Held Up
The flood held up mail service throughout the county. In Santa Ana, no mail was received from Saturday at 3 p. m. until this morning. Postmaster Frank R. Harwood reported. Steam trains expected to be able to resume service again today. Harwood said a railroad washout between El Toro and Irvine held up train service. He hoped regular mail service could be resumed today.

More than 15,000 acre feet of water has flowed into the Santiago dam since the flood of Feb. 6 and 7. The dam, capable of holding back 25,000 acre feet of water, now has 18,735 acre feet of water backed up in the Santiago creek. There were but 3745 acre feet in the reservoir Feb. 5. The water in the dam is valued at close to $200,000.

The Silverado and Modjeska area, hard hit by the previous flood, was not damaged much in the flood this week-end, according to residents of the vicinity. From three to four feet of water flowed through fields and homes in the previous flood, and big stones and debris was deposited over the entire area.

automobiles and engine parts, to mention just a few.

The reporter walked between the aisles with a helter-skelter idea of going toward the rear, where he thought the tamale factory probably was, if anywhere.

Meets Senorita
A black-haired senorita carried the way.

"Com' esta?" she smiled. "The boss..." he began. Smiles burst out all over her face. "Si, si, si..."

Senor A. M. Loya came forward, his hands a little on the greasy side, an apron around his waist and a welcome in his eyes. "Come in," he cried, "come in!"

Oh, the Tamales
In the little kitchen we stopped and he looked the reporter over. "We got some fresh ones," he said. "We just tie up about 300, and some more arrive now."

"Not to buy," the reporter said. "Not to buy—ah, the reporter! You called, no?"

"Yes," the reporter said. "I called."

"I," he announced, "just come back from Guadalajara! This is the fine place! For 11 pesos only we stay each day, with wine on the table at meal time and real American coffee!"

"The tamales..."

"Not tamales! For a month we are gone to Mexico—for 3 cents American, 10 centavos, you can ride the street car for many miles—anywhere, or rent a car for a peso and a half!"

The reporter and Senor Loya wended their way between stoves, pots filled with corn, beef bubbling over flames and four industrious people.

"Here," he cried again, "we make the tamales! So?"

The reporter declined to taste, because of a service club luncheon.

"In Mexico," said Senor Loya, "they not yet have felt the depression. They don't know it. Nothing is expensive—everyone

CHARGE G. M. 'LABOR SPY' COST HUGE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Chairman La Follette of the senate civil liberties committee charged today that General Motors Corporation and subsidiaries paid $839,764 for detective services from Jan. 1, 1934, to July 31, 1936.

He submitted charges showing payments to 21 detective firms, of which the largest was $419,850 to the Pinkerton National Detective Agency.

Other payments for the period included $138,205 to the International Standards Corporation of Chicago; $104,025 to the Corporations Auxiliary Company of Cleveland; and $34,919 to the Railway Audit and Inspection Company of Pittsburgh.

Harry W. Anderson, General Motors industrial relations director, told the committee he had "advised discontinuance" of all labor espionage services since he took over his post in 1935.

The committee, claiming its inquiry into industrial espionage of private detective agencies is crippling such enterprises, said at least one agency is going out of business and that others have been "ham-strung."

Chairman La Follette (Pro. Wis.) reported more than 100 "labor spies" in various industries had been exposed, and considered bringing contempt proceedings against Robert Pinkerton, chief of the Pinkerton agency, for his refusal to turn over a list of his under cover operatives.

County Supervisor Steele Finley turned sleuth yesterday, breaking up a ring of youthful sneak thieves who had been systematically stealing from the wishing well at the North Main wedding chapel.

Finley, who lives next door to the chapel, saw three boys loitering about the well yesterday afternoon. He surprised them and the boys ran, one of them leaving his bicycle behind him. Finley kept the bicycle.

Later the youth returned, admitted to Finley that five boys had been stealing from the well at regular intervals. The Rev. Earl C. Bloss, head of the chapel, refused to prosecute, so police released the boys to their parents. They will report to the police station every Saturday for two months.

COW COLLISION INJURES TWO

Two cows were dead and two passengers were recovering slight injuries today because a driver tried to keep from striking the cows.

Walter Haskell Gage, 20, Buena Park, reported to California Highway Patrol Officer Vernon Barnhill that the cows, apparently escaped from a pasture early Saturday morning, were standing in the highway on Orangeflower avenue. Swerving his car suddenly, Gage was unable to avoid the animals, whose owner is unknown.

Pat Horning, 17, Long Beach, and Charles Rose, 20, Bellflower, were taken to the Artesia hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises.

Bayshore Cabins Need Pontoons

Heinz Kaiser, who operates Bay Shore camp on Coast Highway near Newport, is going to equip his cabins with pontoons, anchors and a book of pilot rules, he decided today.

Storm waters, rushing down the highway from Newport Heights, roared through his camp and undermined and damaged five cabins, leaving a six-foot ravine through the center of the camp, he said today.

Kaiser anchored the small buildings to keep them from floating down the bay, and is now prepared for any sort of a storm, he added.

In 14 years, from 1916 to 1930, black stem rust cost farmers in the upper Mississippi valley an estimated $600,000,000 by destroying 422,000,000 bushels of wheat and other grain.

spend his money—oranges, wine, wheat, tamales—and besides it's the summer there now already! We're not in the smudge, the flood!"

"Tamales," said the reporter, "the boss..."

"Tamales?" Aquí venga!" They loaded tamales in the reporter's arms. They spread smiles and good humor.

"You come back," the senior said, "plenty tamales! People should go to Mexico to see for themselves—no depression, summer time, everyone happy..."

They hurried back to their tamales, and the reporter went back to work.

"Gimme a couple of paragraphs for tomorrow," the boss said. "What took you so long? Where you been?"

"Those tamales," the reporter began.

This ain't lunch time," yelled the boss. "You should have grabbed a sandwich while you were out. Two paragraphs is all we can handle now, anyhow!"

Adios.

Missing on Continental Divide

This picture of Joseph Oppenheimer (left) and John Oberdorfer was taken by a friend when they reached Berthoud pass, on the Continental divide, for a Sunday outing. They donned skis and headed across a mountain. They did not return. Searchers fear they died under a snow avalanche. (Associated Press photo.)

Julius Caesar Is Betrayed Again; Brutus Innocent

Without benefit of Brutus, Julius Caesar was betrayed again today.

He was hooked at the county jail from Orange, on drunk driving charges. He gave his address as Los Angeles, his occupation as laborer, and his age as 47. His name, he insisted, really is Julius Caesar.

U. S. PLANS HUGE SILVER VAULT

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The treasury plans to establish a silver depository similar to the one created for the nation's huge gold supply at Fort Knox, Ky.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, director of the mint, told a house appropriations subcommittee a location for the silver depository is under consideration and that several sites have been investigated.

With about $1,900,000,000 in silver bullion on hand in this country, Mrs. Ross said even withdrawal of the gold stores from the mints at the Fort Knox depository would not provide adequate space for the metal.

Scherman to Head Foresters' Group

Further honors were heaped upon Joe Scherman, state forester from Orange, when he was chosen president of the Southern California Association of Foresters and Fire Warden, in annual session yesterday at Catalina.

Scherman succeeds Guerdon Ellis, U. S. supervisor of Cleveland National forest, last year's president. Other officers elected were Frank Dunn, chief forester for Ventura county, vice president; William Jones, U. S. forest supervisor, second vice president, and County Fire Warden Orton, Ventura, secretary-treasurer.

ERECTION OF NEW MARKET STARTED

A new market building will soon begin to rise at the northeast corner of Second and Sycamore streets. R. C. McMillan, contractor, was at work today preparing the ground for erection of the $15,000 structure.

Excavation work started Saturday. Unless bad weather prevents carrying out present plans the building will be completed within 60 days.

The Payless market organization will occupy the building. Harold Wright and associates of Santa Ana will be in charge of the new food store. The building is being erected for the Sims Realty corporation, which recently was incorporated for $200,000.

An outstanding feature of the new setup will be the parking space, 150 by 125, which will adjoin the building at the rear and on the north side.

The one-story structure will be 90 by 65 feet in size and will be built of reinforced concrete.

CONVICTS FLEE WITH GUARDS

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Four or more prisoners kidnaped a captain and steward at Caledonia prison farm in Halifax county this morning and escaped in the direction of the Virginia state line.

Capus M. Waynick, chairman of the highway and public works commission, said Captain R. D. Hinton, in charge of personnel at the farm, and Steward W. L. Roberts were overpowered and taken by "the heavily-armed" prisoners who commandeered a state prison truck.

All telephone lines to the farm had been cut, Waynick said, and guard reinforcements were rushed from here and other points in case other trouble had developed at Caledonia.

The big prison farm is located on the Roanoke river in northeastern North Carolina, only some 30 miles from Virginia.

Identity of the escaping prisoners, and the exact number that took part were not known here.

Newport again! They want help—rising water. The highway department helps out here.

A car is discovered in the ditch on West Seventeenth street, bogged down in the mud and water. A man is sitting in it, not worried. The man is removed, the car left where it is.

A tree falls across Orangeflower near Coyote creek. A dredger in the river near Anaheim, below the Santa Fe bridge, shows signs of being a sea-going dredger. The highway department again helps out, as the patrol car heads for Huntington Beach and another abandoned car.

Then back to the office, where the phones are ringing and the radio howling... a family wants help in Wintersburg... the highway is washed out at Serra... a man killed two cows... it's flood time in Orange county.

Watershed Cuts Down Flood Loss

State Forester Joe Scherman, at Orange, said today that Orange county should be thankful that no serious brush or forest fires have damaged watersheds during the past two years.
If any large areas had been burned over, the county probably would have suffered much more severe damage, he claimed, as large amounts of mud and silt would have choked all streams and would probably have flooded much larger areas of land.
Well-brushed hills help hold back rain water and are of incalculable aid in controlling floods, Scherman added.

Principals In Fistic Run-Around Involving Title

The plot thickened when these three got together—left to right: Joe Gould, Braddock's manager; New York Promoter Mike Jacobs, who handles the stop-and-go sign on Louis and John Roxborough, co-manager of the Brown Bomber from Detroit and Chicago.

Chairman Joseph Triner of the Illinois boxing commission had a lot to do with negotiations for a Chicago bout.

Max Schmeling and Matchmaker Joe Jacobs, who handles Madison Square Garden, feel they're getting the run-around.

The German, shown with Manager Joe Jacobs, exhibits wounds he suffered when he kayaked Louis last June.

Rain, rain, go away... or the Saints and Dons will be forced to substitute water polo for track at Poly field.

Speed, courage, stamina, teamwork and brains—these are the chief essentials to success in rugby, according to the Don coach, Ernest Butterworth.

Bob Smith, southpaw first-baseman who helped lead Huntington Beach's Oilers to a pair of Southern California softball titles, is recovering from an appendicitis operation.

Dave Phoenix, Santa Ana Jaycee's new swimming captain, spends the summer life-guarding at Balboa... Dave plays football as well as he glides through the water, but the former Newport Harbor prep has had better luck in the tank sport here... Last fall, with a halfback post virtually clinched on Bill Cook's Southern California championship eleven, he cracked a wrist in the season's opener with Pasadena and missed the entire schedule.

Those hot-shot Francis brothers—Sammy and Paul—who rolled up 24 points for Tustin in bowdlering Anaheim, 40-14, in the first game of the Orange league basketball playoffs, may land at junior college here... Sam is taller and perhaps a better shooter, but Paul certainly knows how to handle that ball at guard.

There's nothing to the rumor that Russian Louie Neva's release was authorized by less than a majority of the Huntington Beach nightball commissioners, writes Sports Ed Sharkey Plunlee in the Huntington Beach News. Secretary Cliff King vows that six of the seven commissioners voted either in person or by proxy for the release of the sensational hurler.

Newport Harbor has a 19-year-old fighter in training under D. K. (Shorty) Blue... He is Jack Jones from Gillette, Wyo., who has come to Orange county to make his home. The boy is 5 ft. 10 in. and scales 164 pounds.

Eleven freshmen who won their letters last spring will be available for Fullerton Jaycee's Eastern conference track favorites this year... Weather permitting, the Swarm will hold its annual interclass meet tomorrow and Wednesday.

Newport Defends Two L. A. Regatta Crowns

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—More than 150 sailing and power yachts from ports between Vancouver, B. C. and San Diego bay pointed today for the 11th annual mid-winter regatta at Los Angeles harbor.

The four-day race series will get underway next Friday.

Bee S. McNeill of Los Angeles, in charge of arrangements, said seven defending yachts would attempt to retain possession of perpetual trophies.

Awards are:

George Brock trophy (eight-meter class)—defended by Owen Churchill's Angelita of the South Coast Corinthian Yacht club, Santa Monica.

Ben Meyer trophy—(six-meter class)—defended by Commodore William Bartholomae, Jr.'s Mystery Nina, Newport.

Frank Borge trophy (star sloop)—defended by Glenn Waterhouse's Three Star Too of San Francisco.

Don Lee trophy (R-class)—undefended.

Santa Monica Association trophy—defended by William Lyon's Nina, Newport.

Civic regatta association trophy (skimmer class)—defended by Sir Guy Standing's Firefly (sailed to win in 1936 by Rose Pascal, Long Beach city sailor).

Mayor Frank Shaw (Los Angeles) trophy (Catalina Island windjammer class)—Tom Reed's Paisano, Pacific Coast Writers' club, Hollywood.

DONS FALL IN OVERTIME AT CHAFFEY, 36 TO 33

While Santa Ana's lower-division Dons were losing a 36-33 thriller to Chaffey in an overtime period at Ontario, Fullerton Junior college's 1937 favorites turned back a stubborn and improved Citrus quintet, 30-28, for their eighth consecutive victory in the Eastern conference race at Fullerton Saturday night.

It was a typical heart-breaker that Blanchard Beatty's home guard lost at Ontario, after the Dons had fought Chaffey to a 31-31 deadlock, necessitating an extra session of three minutes.

The Dons missed a set-up at the start of the overtime period, Chaffey recovering the ball and advancing rapidly down the court

COOPER LEADS GOLF TRAIL

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Light-horse Harry Cooper headed for Georgia today, a broad grin and a bulging pocketbook publicly announcing the death of a "runner up" complex that has plagued his golf game for years.

Just when it appeared he might again succumb to his old jinx of drawing up second in the stretch, Cooper took a hitch in his game and came home with 280—or four under par—to win the 72-hole $3000 Houston Open tournament.

He pocketed $700 for top money and started for Thomasville, Ga., and the Glen Arven tourney. He has won in five tourneys on the winter swing. Triumphs at Los Angeles and Houston caused him to believe the jinx had been chased.

Five shots ahead of the field after 54 holes, Cooper wobbled on the outgoing nine and slipped three over par on the first hole.

He rallied, however, to win by four strokes over Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y.

Fred Cocoran, tournament bureau manager of the National P. G. A., said Cooper was the leading cash winner and the lowest scorer for five tourneys played to date.

The table:

Player	Score	Putts	Avg.
Harry Cooper, Chicago	280	34	69.5
Sam Snead, W. Va.	284	35	71.0
Ralph Guldahl, Chicago	284	36	71.2

ROSENBLUM ACCUSED OF 'RUN OUT'

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Maxie Rosenbloom, veteran New York heavyweight, was accused today of "running out" on his scheduled 10-round bout here tomorrow night with Lee Ramage of San Diego.

Matchmaker Joe Waterman called the bout off, substituted Joe Bauer of Cleveland for Rosenbloom and described Slapsie-Maxie's actions as "the worst run-out I have seen in 30 years of boxing."

Rosenbloom, apparently through Dr. Harry Martin, member of the California Athletic commission, refused to go through with the fight because of a chipped bone in his little finger.

Frank Bachman, Rosey's manager, who said he knew nothing of the fight cancellation until local sports writers told him, snorted with disgust.

Asserting that Rosenbloom told him last week that the bout would not draw in the face of Tuesday night's tennis show between Ellisworth Vines and Fred Perry, Bachman added:

"He hurt that finger more than a year ago, and since then has fought five times. Three times in Australia, once here against King Levinsky and last week in Modesto, Cal., against Jack Kranz. "Why, he worked five rounds Saturday with Johnny Miller, and made arrangements to hit the road Sunday. I don't know what happened."

MILLS' HOLDS UNIVERSALS

Elated over their fine performance the Hollywood Universalis, 1936 Olympic champions for the United States, Manager Quentin Matzen's Santa Ana Woolen Mills cagers today pointed toward a busy week of three basketball games.

They lost to the Universals, 44-34, at Black-Foxe military academy in Los Angeles Saturday night, but only after gaining 24-22 and 28-22 leads in the second half.

Frank Lubin, former U. C. L. A. great, and a towering center, tossed in 18 points to lead the attack of the Universals, who were at full strength except for Jack Hupp, ex-Trojan star. Santa Ana's scoring was about evenly divided, with Bill Kolkhorst's 8 points high.

The Santa Ana weavers play Winter Junior chamber of commerce at the Y. M. C. A. here tomorrow night, and travel for a game with the Bank of America in Los Angeles Thursday night. They play a practice brush with Santa Ana Jaycee Friday night.

Trojan and Bruin Frosh Ruggers Stated for Dons

Free-lancing after an Eastern Junior College conference rugby league folded up, Coach Ernest Butterworth's Santa Ana ruggers will open up with their bag of tricks Thursday afternoon against the U. S. C. frosh fifteen on the Los Angeles coliseum turf.

Following up this assignment, the Dons will go to Los Angeles again a week from Thursday, Feb. 25, to match thrills and spills with the U. C. L. A. frosh.

Coaches Bill Cook and Butterworth made the final arrangements for the two contests when they contacted Trojan and Bruin athletic officials Saturday. After the conference, the coaches and some of their players saw the U. S. C. varsity's 3-0 win over Stanford.

SANTA ANITA DERBY MAY LURE 30

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The $50,000 Santa Anita Derby, to be run one week from today at Santa Anita park, may prove a record-breaking race in more ways than one.

One hundred and six 3-year-olds of the cream of the nation's racing stables were nominated for the second richest plum of the Santa Anita season.

Racing secretary Webb Everett believes 30 will go to the post next Monday, Washington's birthday, necessitating use of the old-type barrier instead of the customary starters' gate.

Last year, when Mrs. Silas B. Mason's He Did romped in to win the $25,000 added purse posted at that time, 69 thoroughbreds were nominated and 11 answered the bugle.

This year's field promises to offer class as well as number, with Mrs. Ethel V. Mar's Milky Way stable slated to send in its great Case Ace winner, the $45,000 Arlington futurity last summer, A. G. Vanderbilt's Tedious, William Du Pont's Fairy Hill, Raoul Walsh's Irish breed threat, Sunset Train and Jack Whitney's Upper Berth and other leading contenders.

Tomorrow a final preview is scheduled. It is the Derby trials, a race that drew so many entries it will be run in two divisions. Twenty-one names went through the entry box, but if weather and track conditions are bad, it is likely the scratches will cut the field down to a more manageable number.

Inter-class between freshmen and sophomores at Santa Ana Junior college may be postponed a week, Coach Bill Cook announced today.

New rains have flooded the high school track, which may not find it in good shape for the carded two-day trackfest Thursday and Friday.

In case of a postponement, the meet will be held the first of the week. Entries to the Southern Conference relays at Occidental the following Saturday, Feb. 27, will be made at that time.

VAROFF, LASH SET RECORDS IN POLE VAULT, 2-MILE

NEW YORK. (AP)—The New York Athletic club games at Madison Square Garden, heralded as "the meet of records" brings the indoor track season up to the championship stage Saturday. The National A. A. U. title meet comes the following week.

But if any more record breaking is to be done, Saturday's stars will have to step fast and jump high. "Two of the greatest performances ever recorded indoors—Don Lash's two miles in 8:58 and George Varoff's pole vault of 14 feet 4 1/2 inches—were turned in at Boston last Saturday.

Lash's great feat—one was within 100 yards of him at the finish—likely will stand this week although the Hoosier star is slated to run against the same field. It took 12 years to take that fifth of a second off peerless Paavo Nurmi's "unbreakable" indoor mark, made in the N. Y. A. C. meet.

Varoff is not yet listed as a pole vault competitor, but he likely will be invited. It was at the N. Y. A. C. meet three years ago that Keith Brown set the record Varoff broke.

Sam Allen, the Oklahoma who lowered the 45-yard high hurdles mark to 5.7 seconds and Johnny Donovan of Dartmouth, who beat him in a 5.8 final, also are slated to compete here over 60 yards.

KICKOFF RULE CHANGED IN FOOTBALL

NEW YORK. (AP)—The football rules committee of the National Collegiate A. A. U., reporting on its three-day meeting at Absecon, N. J., today placed a heavy premium on the kickoff, gave officials and the defense a little leeway on the disputed pass interference regulation and threatened drastic action against ineligible pass receivers.

The committee adopted the suggestion of the American Football Coaches association making the numbering of all players on the front and back of their jerseys mandatory, and clarified the rule against kicking.

Effective with the start of the 1937 intercollegiate campaign, only one kickoff will be allowed. If the ball is kicked off out of bounds, it is to be put in play by the opponents from scrimmage "on their own 35-yard line or 10 yards in from the point where it crossed the side line, whichever is more advantageous."

Previously if the ball kicked off went out of bounds, except after being caught and fumbled or kicked by a player, it was brought back and kicked off again. If kicked out of bounds a second time, it was awarded to the opponents, who put it in play by a scrimmage on their 40-yard line.

"This will greatly simplify the rule and the play, and also will tend to speed up the game," said Secretary William S. Langford in his report.

The rule makers added a supplemental note to the forward pass interference regulation, pointing out that "defensive players have as much right to the ball as the eligible opponent, and bodily contact, however severe, between players who are making a bona-fide attempt to catch or bat the ball shall not be construed as interference."

Rains May Delay J. C. Interclass

Sports Roundup

By SCOTTY RESTON (Pinch-Hitting for Brietz)

NEW YORK. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians probably can get Lou Gehrig from the Yankees if they want to give up Hal Trosky. This is no wild guess. The Lou Gehrig-Jake Ruppert fight, like an iceberg, is nine-tenths below the surface. The one-tenth can be melted easily enough, but the nine-tenths may roll over and bounce Lou off the club.

Dave McMillan, Minnesota's basketball coach, has made the comeback of the winter. Gopher fans had two strikes on him before he started this year. Fed on the football victories, they greedily tried to oust him even before he started the Big Ten campaign. Now he has the Minnesota team within a single point of the league leadership, having lost one game to Ohio State by that margin. The fans say the victory complex of the football squad merely has spread, and MacMillan gets little credit.

Who did this fellow, "Irl" Tubbs, new Iowa coach, ever develop? Several fans have asked. Well, as coach at Central High in Superior, Wis., he developed a boy called Nevers. Ever hear of him? Energetic young "Weenie" Wilson, new Illinois athletic director, is toying with an interesting idea. Foreseeing prolongation of the industrial labor strife in this country, he is planning a combined athletic coaching-industrial management course. Young coaches would study means of improving working conditions and personnel morale through a well-organized athletic program.

Tom Meaney of the World Telegram tells about Dazzy Vance's explanation of his annual "satisfactory adjustment" with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Said the Dazzy: "I didn't get as much as I expected, but it's more than I thought I'd get."

Gustavus T. Kirby and Avery Brundage will decide how much money the American Olympic committee has left when Kirby turns here from Florida. Reggie McNamara, the so-called Iron man, has had his hair dyed. He doesn't want the grey to show.

Reporters asked "Lefty" Gomez of the Yankees what he was going to do about his cut (he made $20,000 last year and was offered $7500). "Cut?" "Cut?" "Cut?" roared El Goofy, "that's not a cut; that's an amputation."

Orange county figured prominently in the annual Palm Springs Invitational golf tournament, with a former Fullerton High school athlete, Stanley Schulte, finishing fourth in the 36-hole play won by Jack Gaines of Glendale, former state and Southern California amateur champion, yesterday.

Schulte, representing the Hacienda Country club, toured the desert course with a card of 67-72-139 to deadlock Roger Kelly, Los Angeles star, with a 69-70-139.

Gaines turned in a winning score of 68-66-134, two strokes ahead of young John Blumenberg of the San Gabriel Country club with a 68-68-136.

DON TILT WITH TROBABES OFF

Santa Ana's Southern California champion Dons will not meet the University of Southern California frosh in football next fall, Coach Bill Cook announced today.

At Los Angeles Saturday to discuss possibilities of such a game, the Trojan officials declared that a match had already been carded with the University of California first-year men at Berkeley.

Replies from the Arizona frosh and San Diego State frosh teams have not been received by Cook, who is anxious to fill his '37 season before spring drills open.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

THE crab situation in Orange county, according to state officials, is becoming acute. Our unusual winter weather has brought unhappiness to every crab holder along the coastline, according to latest reports on the crustacean situation.

When we have cold weather, edibles for the crabish fraternity are scarce. And, when crabs don't get enough to eat, they refuse to shed their old shells and trade 'em in on new models.

Do you blame the crabs for being crabby? Here are the Northern California brethren, all dressed up in the 1937 style and the local crustaceans must get along with last year's clothing. It's disgraceful!

All foolishness aside, however, the crabs are good weather prophets. When there isn't enough to eat, and they keep the old shells, it's a sure sign of a hard winter.

So, after this, I'm going to rely on the hard-shelled critters, instead of government weathermen!

Capt. Bill Brown, my good friend the sailor who's now doing a bit of fishing in the Gulf of California, has made a lot of enemies for me.

I printed Capt. Bill's letter, describing the country and the fishing and the fiestas, and now a couple of guys are looking for me, just as mad as they can be!

Marshall Steen, champion mackerel fisherman of the coast, is quite upset about Capt. Bill's letter. Steen is spending an enforced vacation in bed, and he's always worrying about when he can get out. And then this letter comes along and upsets his equilibrium to such an extent that his wife is seriously considering purchase of a strait-jacket.

The other dissatisfied individual is B. K. Maxwell, Fullerton, who, as an ardent angler, wants to go South, too, and that letter so upset him that he's running around biting his fingernails, poor guy!

I'm not walking up any dark alleys, this week!

Editor Verne Beck didn't print any sermon for Chellins last week in his Coastline Dispatch at Capistrano, but he did dig up a poem regarding bustles that's one of the best. Take a slant at his ideas on the subject:

ODE TO A BUSTLE

Oh, Bustle!
Ancient, antiquated, straw-filled thing,
Relic of old-time form-protruding day;
Oh, padded mat, like Mary's little lamb,
That trailed behind at house-work or at play.

Oh, Bustle!
What inspired soul first gave thee birth,
And found such humble chore for thee to do?
Why did thy artist-builder make thee so,

And quickly hid his masterpiece from view?
Oh, Dear!

Also, Editor Beck displays an attack of kind-heartedness when he remarks about cows in trailers, thusly:

Wondered often what a cow in a truck thinks about, so took a look when a Visbeck Dairy Farms truck, from Artesia, parked near the shop. It was packed-jammed with cows. Three were down. Two stood on one, and the flattened one never moved a muscle. Another one moved its neck gashed open by a sister cow's hoofs, one of which was hidden inside the cow's neck. Blood was oozing out. Could not tell whether she was dead yet. The third one tried to get up, but only succeeded in kicking the hide off herself. The driver whanged some of the beasts with his cane. Why? Who knows. There ought to be a law "agin" cows in a truck.

And now I'm going to make subscribers angry. Long suffering readers no doubt will be overcome by the beauty of the Lyn's Scotsman's latest "poem," which he dedicates to his favorite cause, construction of a new pier at Newport. Hang on to your seats and read this!

AFTER THE BATTLE
Wherever fishermen gather—
From New York to Iowa
They talk of the excellent fishing
From the pier at Newport bay.

They talk of the cod and the mackerel
And the fun they have every day.
Of the modern pier and arrangements
They have
For the Fisherman from Iowa.

Everything is neat and shiny
Just right for our every need
It's a darn sight better 'n it used to be
With its lack of things to feed.

They had quite a fight to get things fixed right.
But now everything is okay.
So grab your pole and give it a try
You fishermen from Iowa.

COUNTY FISHING PRESERVE

WATSON WILL SPEAK ON NEW LAW

Senator Westover And Kuchel to Appear on Laguna Program

LAGUNA BEACH.—Re-enactment of Orange county's fishing preserve law is expected to be the subject of discussion at the monthly meeting of the Orange County Coast association here tomorrow evening. Senator Harry Westover and Assemblyman Clyde Watson and Thomas Kuchel will appear on the program. President Leslie Kimmel said.

Watson, who presented a bill creating a preserve along the county's coastline at the January session of the legislature, will explain workings of the bill, which would prohibit purse seiners from operating within three miles of shore.

John P. Cassidy, official of the Fish and Game Development association, a combined group of state sportsmen, also will speak, taking as his subject a proposed seining fishing control bill, which would bring floating reduction plants under state control.

President Kimmel will lead his first meeting as head of the association since his election last month.

Discussion of a number of problems affecting the coast territory, including inclusion of San Juan Hot Springs above Capistrano into the state park system, is scheduled for the meeting, which will open with a 6:30 o'clock dinner in Birds' Cafe.

STUDY CIRCLE HAS MEETING

HANSEN.—Members of the study circle of the P.T.A. met recently at the home of Mrs. Mabel Lukens, with Mrs. Leona Jones leading the discussion on "Children's Education."

Miss Perry Speaks To Woman's Club

MIDWAY CITY.—Substituting for Mrs. Donald Smiley, Orange, who was unable to be present on account of illness, Mrs. Evadne K. Perry, county supervisor of art, was the guest speaker at the Woman's club Thursday afternoon, taking for her subject, "How Art Can Save You Money."

Mrs. Princess Booth Hartley of the English department of the Huntington Beach High school, introduced six students from her class in public speaking who gave one-minute talks on current events.

Two musical numbers on the program were given by Mrs. E. L. Hensley and Mrs. May Finley playing a violin and saxophone duet, accompanied by Mr. Robert Perry.

Miss Perry presided at the tea table at the conclusion of the afternoon.

Flood Uncovers Loot at Beach

NEWPORT BEACH.—While hunting sea-shells on the beach at Crystal Cove, J. A. Lind found where the recent high water had revealed the hiding place of two suitcases and a car radio, which was battered and broken to pieces by the surf, it was reported by police.

Lind took his find to the Newport Beach police department where the suitcases were found to contain various items of wearing apparel and miscellaneous jewelry, including four watches. In the lot was a driver's license issued to Wilbur Light, 6829 Arbutus street, Huntington Park.

Police in the city stated they had a burglary report on file covering the case. The loot was turned over to the sheriff's office.

ATTEND PARTY
CORONA DEL MAR.—Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Ganahl enjoyed a family party recently at the home of Mrs. Ganahl's aunt, Mrs. J. B. Montgomery in Los Angeles. The occasion marked celebration of four birthdays in the family in the month of February. Mrs. Ganahl, her daughter Mary, a sister and Mrs. Montgomery, were the honored members.

P.T.A. HONORS MRS. DROWN

BOLSA.—Mrs. Ruth Drown, president of the Fourth district P.T.A., was the guest of honor at the Founder's day program observed by the local P.T.A. Thursday afternoon. Mrs. E. V. Kelsey, Garden Grove, gave a talk on "Undesirable Habits," and led a panel discussion.

Taking part in the ceremonial lighting of the candles on the birthday cake were Mrs. Clyde Cantrell, representing the National P.T.A.; Mrs. Willis Cadwalder, the state; Mrs. Welsey, the district; and Mrs. Lillie Cosner, the local association. The children participating in the ceremony included Juanita Cantrell, Willie Bailey, Anna Faber and David Cadwalder.

Mrs. V. C. Shylling, president, concluded the ceremony with a reading. Special guests were several past presidents, Mrs. Victor Echols, Mrs. Edith McMillan and Mrs. Roy Head.

Valentines featured the social hour with Mrs. Charles Patterson, Mrs. Willis Cadwalder and Mrs. Clyde Cantrell, hostesses.

CHURCH GROUP MEETS AT C.M.

COSTA MESA.—The Ladies' Aid of Community Church held an all-day meeting in the social hall Thursday, serving pot-luck dinner at noon. The morning was spent in tying two comforters for relief work.

During the afternoon program, Miss Cubison, Santa Ana teacher, spoke on "Monuments Erected to Lincoln and Washington." Several musical numbers were given by Miss Lenore Thompson, also of Santa Ana.

Club Entertains 45 at Dinner

BARBER CITY.—The Woman's club, which sponsors a monthly community dinner at the clubhouse, entertained a group of 45 at a chicken dinner Wednesday evening. Following the dinner a social time was enjoyed, an informal program of recitations by Mrs. Eloy Hilborn adding to the pleasure of the evening.

LAGUNA GIRLS GET AWARDS AT COURT

LAGUNA BEACH.—With Miss Val Stark, regional director, as guest of honor, Girl Scouts' activities culminated in a Court of Awards at the Elementary school auditorium.

Mrs. Joseph Thurston was chairman of the program, which included addresses by Mrs. Roy Ropp, scout commissioner, and Miss Stark, along with demonstrations of Scout activities directed by Katherine Grassie and Florence Mirick.

Heading the list of awards was presentation of Girl Scout Lifesaving Medal to Mona Lee Harris and the Eaglet Award to Verda Mackay.

Other awards went to Whitney Maddux, Marie Ware, Grace Thompson, Margaret Owens, Jean Balfour, Justyna Beckwith, Patsy Bird, Betty Hayward, Mary Louise Hoover, Patricia Hoover, Patsy Leahy, Phyllis Littlejohn, Janell Nolan, Jeanne Perkins, Lucille Plavan, Mary Jean Sherman, Marjorie Simmons, Patty Stover, Katherine Weis and Shelia McCullough.

RE-ELECT MESA BOARD MEMBER

COSTA MESA.—At a recent election held in division No. 3 of the Newport Heights Irrigation district, George A. Waterman was elected director for the eighteenth consecutive year, this year defeating his opponent, Harry M. Aldrich, state highway patrolman, by nearly two to one.

Waterman was one of the original organizers of the district and has been active in bringing about reduction of the heavy financial burdens of the district. At present, two W. P. A. projects are underway, laying of one and one-half miles of four-inch cast-iron pipe and construction of a large cement storage reservoir.

FARM GROUP TO MEET AT G. G.

GARDEN GROVE.—Home Department members of the Garden Grove Farm Center will meet at the Woman's clubhouse Tuesday at 10 a. m. when Miss Frances Liles will demonstrate color plans for the home and making of the color wheel.

At noon a pot-luck luncheon will be enjoyed and all attending are urged by Chairman Mrs. H. Clay Kellogg to bring their own table service.

Legion County Council Meets

ORANGE.—Orange post of the American Legion was host to the Orange County council of the organization last night in the Legion hall. Approximately 65 delegates and post members attended the 6:30 o'clock dinner served by the Orange unit of the Legion auxiliary.

Ralph M. Nicodemus, county council commander, conducted the meeting. James Cass is commander of the local post.

Note Birthdays In Orange Home

ORANGE.—Birthdays of W. O. Higgins and his youngest grandson, Gordon Wilmar Higgins, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Higgins, were observed Sunday when a birthday dinner was served at the W. O. Higgins home, 225 South Grand street.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Higgins and son, Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Valentine and children, Shirley and Billy, San Bernardino. The relative of the small celebrant, his great-grandmother, Mrs. Martha Ludlow, Costa Mesa, also celebrated her birthday Sunday.

Operetta Is Planned By Orange Woman's Club

ORANGE.—February 26 is the date set for presentation of an operetta, "The Bartered Bride," by the chorus of the Orange Woman's club, at the high school auditorium. Contrary to the custom of other years, only one performance is slated.

Taking leading parts in the musical comedy will be Mrs. Sallie Coe Mueller, R. Crouse, Santa Ana; Travis Flippen, Maryesther Wood, Mrs. W. O. Hart, Horace Ritter, Frank Nuslein, Nelson Rogers, Howard Barnes, Phyllis Kogler, Donald Smiley, Jack Rossier and George Richardson.

Rehearsals are being held each night at the Woman's club. Mrs. Benjamin Brihaker is drama director and Leland Auer, Santa Ana, chorus director. Mrs. Joy H. Elder is accompanist and Mrs. G. L. Niles, costume chairman.

GROVE MISSION SLATE PLAY AT EVENT SLATED

GARDEN GROVE.—The dinner given annually by the Missionary society of the Baptist church in honor of returned missionaries or those on furlough was planned for March 11 when the members met for an all-day session at the church Thursday.

Mrs. J. G. Allen was named chairman of the invitation committee and Miss Grace Hedstrom table committee chairman. The business session during the morning was conducted by Mrs. Ernest Littlejohn, president. Mrs. W. J. Keen led the devotional service.

The program following the noon luncheon included talks by Mrs. Alice Linsley of Whittier, educational director of the Baptist convention who spoke on missionary work in Africa, and Mrs. C. Staley of Fullerton who discussed eleven departments of church work.

THE PURPLE ARROW

By MILDRED SNOW GLEASON
(Copyright, 1937, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Frances Haven, American girl, has lived for eight years on a lonely little farm in Denmark with an elderly couple named Jilupp. Her only close relative is her brother Jack, who is a Rumanian. Recently, she has become disturbed by the Jilupps' attitude toward her. She has a growing desire to get away, which is increased when they try to force her to marry their son Joe. By chance, she meets a strange young man who seems to know something about her, and who cryptically advises her to keep her head. She determines to go to Bucharest to find her brother, but when she breaks this news to the Jilupps, they lock her in her room. That night, she escapes. She receives a mysterious note, signed only with a crayon drawing of a purple arrow, telling her that her escape has been arranged, and that she is to go to Bucharest. One night, a ladder is placed under her window. She climbs down and is escorted by Nils to a car waiting at a turn in the road.

CHAPTER VII
As Fran reached the car, she saw, with some surprise, that it was a Copenhagen taxi. The stolid driver touched his cap and opened the door for her. He did not speak.

Fran hesitated a second. She had a sudden need to be alone. "I'd rather sit up in front," she said.

The man nodded and helped her into the seat beside him. Still silent, he started the motor and they drove off.

After a while, Fran spoke, asking a few questions. The driver answered her civilly, but he knew nothing. He worked for a cab company, and had simply received orders to wait for a lady at such a time and at such a place and to take her to a designated Copenhagen hotel.

It was nearly 2 o'clock when they reached Copenhagen and drove to a large hotel. The driver helped Fran out, resumed his place, and drove off.

Fran entered the hotel timidly, but they were evidently expected, for an affable night clerk advanced immediately and greeted her politely. The lady's luggage had arrived safely and her room was ready. Would she come this way, please?

At the door of her room, he asked for her passport. In the morning, he would send a boy with it to get the German visa. Fran thanked him in some confusion. It was a lucky thing, she thought, that someone was planning this trip for her. She had completely forgotten that a visa would be necessary.

GROWERS TO MEET AT ORANGE

ORANGE.—The annual meeting of the Consolidated Orange Growers Association will be held Tuesday, following a noon dinner at the Orange Woman's club. Frank H. Collins, the manager, will make his annual report and directors will be elected.

Henry Terry, president of the board, will preside.

Speakers will be James O. Cook, secretary of the California Fruit Growers Exchange; A. C. Fleury, chief of the state bureau of plant quarantine; and Clarence Skiles, manager of the Orange County Fruit Growers Exchange.

POSTPONE G.G. CLUB FETE

GARDEN GROVE.—Postponement of a Townsend club dinner, slated for tonight in the chamber of commerce office, was announced this morning by club officials.

The affair, originally slated for last Monday, was postponed because of the storm. Tonight's meeting will be held at a date to be set later by officials, it was said.

Former Resident Of Mesa Dies

COSTA MESA.—Mrs. T. E. Fraser, a former resident of Costa Mesa, died this week at her home at the Red Cloud Mine, in Sonora county.

In perfect health, Mrs. Fraser suddenly was taken ill and was carried on a stretcher three miles, through snow several feet deep. Upon reaching medical attention, the doctor said she had already been dead several hours.

Surviving are her husband and one sister, Mrs. William Lampe of Glendale. Fraser accompanied the body south and remained several days with friends in Costa Mesa.

Dr. Laws Will Address Forum

ORANGE.—Dr. Gertrude Laws, child psychologist, will make her second appearance on the Orange Public Forum program Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium, when she speaks on "Home Life and Delinquency." The program is sponsored jointly by the P.T.A. and the forum.

The public is invited to the lecture which will start at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. Oliver Wickersheim, local resident of the community council P.T.A. is program chairman.

name of the hotel to the driver. And then, just as she was about to get into the cab, she caught sight of her friend, the blond giant. Although, in reality, he was as much of a stranger to her as these others, she felt as reassured as though she had seen a face from home.

She motioned to the taxi driver to wait, and ran breathlessly after the tall figure. He was walking down the street with long, quick steps, and she had some difficulty catching up with him.

"Oh, please!" she called. "Just a minute!"

He stopped and turned, waiting politely, not the faintest sign of recognition in his eyes. For a second, confused, Fran wondered what he had made a mistake. But no—there was no mistaking that bronzed face and those blue eyes.

"Don't you remember me?" she faltered.

"I'm sorry," he said, "but I—Wait a sec. Why, you're the girl who ran into me?"

Fran laughed happily. "Yes." "But what under the sun are you doing here?"

"I thought you would know," she said, without thinking. "I?" He stared at her.

Fran began to feel uncomfortable. Had she been wrong in her guess, after all? Was it possible that old Nils' "strange Viking" was someone else?

She drew herself up a little stiffly. "I was wondering," she said quietly, "if you could give me the name of a small hotel. I am quite alone, and I don't know Berlin, and I don't speak German. I have a taxi waiting."

"Yes, I think so," he nodded. "Come along and I'll tell your driver where to go."

He walked back with her to the waiting car and helped her in. After giving the driver the name of a hotel, he lifted his hat to Fran.

"Pleasant journey," he said, and waved off.

Fran had a let-down feeling. Was it just coincidence that he was here in Berlin and that she had met him? Just coincidence, or was he pretending?

GOVERNMENT GROWTH IS STRESSED

Westover Gives Radio Talk Telling Need of Improvement

In an address over KVOE today Sen. Harry Westover of Santa Ana discussed the American legislative form of government. He pointed out that Americans believe they have the best form of government in the world; but at the same time Westover asked if the government can continue to be the best, without constant improvement.

His address in part follows: "At this time and over this station for the past two weeks I have been discussing the government of the state of California and more particularly the legislature. "It will be recalled that many of the colonists who came to America did so for the purpose of escaping what they considered an unjust form of government.

Three Branches
"In order to preclude a centralization of power in the hands of a few, the American government was divided up into the three parts—Legislative, executive and judicial, with the thought that each part would be a check upon the other two.

"It is true that at different intervals during the life of the republic there have been accusations that the president has attempted to clothe himself with dictatorial powers and take over the government, but regardless of the charges made, the government remains today substantially the same as it was planned by the framers of the Constitution.

Legislatures Elected
"In the federal government and in all state governments, there was established a legislative body. The federal legislative body is called the congress of the United States. The state legislative bodies are called assemblies or legislatures. In nearly all states as well as the federal government, the members of the legislative body are elected by the direct vote of the people.

"The legislative system of government has not changed materially during the past 150 years. There is a school of thought in government, to the effect that our legislative system of government is adequate for our present needs, and consequently there is no need of any radical change. On the other hand, there is another school of thought which is to the effect that we have outgrown our legislative form of government and that we now need a change. In other words, have we progressed in this country to such a point that we can do away or abolish the legislature?

Americans Satisfied

"We Americans are pretty well satisfied with our lot and we take great delight in telling the rest of the world how much better off we are than they. It is well for us to be satisfied with our lot. It is commendable that we feel we have the best government the world has ever seen. But that in itself is not sufficient. We may feel that we have the best government, while in truth, other forms of government may be superior.

"It is sufficient to say that a republic has never stood the test of time. The fact that the United States has lived and grown and expanded over a period of 150 years is not any indication that it can last indefinitely. One hundred and fifty years is not a sufficient length of time to determine whether our government can endure. It is true that it lasted the first 150 years, but you will remember that during the last campaign it was freely predicted by many people that our present president is the last president the United States will ever have.

Welfare of People

"Upon the shoulders of the legislators rest the burdens of enacting laws by which the country lives and operates. As long as we have a legislature which is imbued with the idea of public service we will have a good legislative government. But many times our legislators do not consider the welfare of the people as a whole but rather some particular clique or group.

"A republic is based upon the proposition that a majority rules. If that is the only requirement of a republic, then we have ceased to be a republic, for the majority no longer rules. We are ruled by an organized minority.

"The legislature of this state, as well as every other state in the union, is subject to pressure groups. Every special interest in the state of California maintains a lobby at Sacramento during the session of the legislature. The lobbies are maintained for one purpose—to influence legislation. Not legislation which is for the benefit of the entire state, but legislation which is for the benefit of that particular group.

Townsend News, Views

By WALTER R. ROBB

(Opinions and comment expressed in this column are not necessarily those of The Journal—Editor's note.)

Rain drenched Santa Ana from overhead Saturday night and rivers of water flowed down its streets. But it takes more than that to keep the Townsends of Orange County from holding a mass meeting.

A pp roximately 250 were on hand to hear Edward F. Trefz, national director of the Townsend movement, lecture in the theater building at 218 East Fourth street, Santa Ana. The writer saw representatives present from as far away as Yorba Linda and Fullerton on the north. They were also present from Corona del Mar and Costa Mesa. And from Tustin, Orange and Santa Ana the old standby leaders were present.

The Hurd-Lentz orchestra of Santa Ana played for 30 minutes. At 7:30 District Manager J. H. Walsh called the meeting to order. Grant Henderson acted as leader of song while the audience sang "America" and T. Dunstan Collins presided at the piano. The Lord's Prayer was repeated as was the pledge to the flag. Henderson then led in community singing with Mrs. Dell Benton of Tustin as accompanist. Walsh announced that Arthur L. Johnson, attorney author of "The General Welfare Act" which is the new Townsend bill, would speak in the theater next Saturday night.

Walsh then presented Trefz. He told of a seven-hour conference with Dr. Townsend relative to the Townsend plan some two years ago, the result of which made a convert of him to the Townsend movement. He explained the mathematics of the Townsend plan. He said its component parts had existed in the plan of creation just the same as the powers of the radio had, that Dr. Townsend had merely unlocked the storehouse of all knowledge releasing another of its powers for human use.

The highlight of the message was reached when he described in detail the now favorable position occupied by the Townsend plan in congress. He said 103 representatives were sent there by the help of Townsend votes. He told of the appointment of Charles N. Crosby, representative from Pennsylvania, as the head of the Townsend bill steering committee. He told of Crosby being a Democrat who ran openly and wholeheartedly supporting the advocacy of the Townsend plan. He told of the law of the land. The result was that he was elected with a vote more than 30,000 greater than that received by the president in the same district. He pointed out that the push on the bill in the congressional hopper would not be exerted until quite late during the session for strategic reasons.

Herbert F. Kenny arrived from Riverside in time to report concerning heavy rains in that county and to say that the congressional district board had been in session in Riverside during the afternoon.

Mrs. Edith L. Paul, secretary of Santa Ana club No. 10, asks that all the club's membership make a special effort to be present at 7:30 tonight at the Free Methodist church at Fruit and Minter streets. She states this will be an important meeting.

P. R. Long, president of Santa Ana club No. 2, announced that W. R. Cogswell, member of the 19th congressional district board, will address the club at 7:30 tonight in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street. An invitation to other Townsends is extended.

trained in such matters this most important function of government? "If the legislature were abolished then what would take its place? We must have some body or person who will make our laws. If the present legislature is too large or cumbersome, then it may be reduced in numbers. There is some thought that we no longer need a two house legislature. If the state of California were run as a private corporation, we would not have a board of directors, composed of two parts. It is possible that governmental efficiency would be obtained by having only one house and that composed of a smaller number of legislators.

"Then, too, should legislators of a state the size of California give their entire time to their jobs? It may be that a full time and full pay legislature is another solution of our governmental problems. An organization the size of the state of California and spending as much money as the state spends and maintaining the police power of the state, should have probably a law making body in continuous session.

DENY RATE CUTS ON GRAPEFRUIT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The Association of American Railroads has rejected the citrus industry's proposal to establish an emergency reduction in grapefruit freight rates for the remainder of this shipping season.

The rail body said charges on most lines already were about 20 cents per hundred pounds less than the reasonable maximum fixed by the interstate commerce commission, and the carriers' returns would not permit a further reduction.

Florida and Texas citrus interests joined in a petition for reductions of 50 per cent in all rate territories, and declared to the association such a cut was the only step that would prevent much of this season's bumper crop from rotting on the trees.

The association said traffic executives representing eastern, western and southern lines voted unanimously at a Chicago meeting Friday to turn down the proposal.

POPE PLANS TO WALK AGAIN

VATICAN CITY. (AP)—Pope Pius XI, overjoyed with evidence he may walk again, expressed determination today to attempt to regain use of his legs.

The few tottering steps the Pontiff took yesterday—to the amazement of his attendants—have done more to elevate his spirits, prelates said, than any other event since he became seriously ill.

Dr. Aminta Milani, however, urged caution. The physician was expected to permit the Pope to take only a few steps from time to time for their encouraging psychological effect.

The holy father suffered a mild setback yesterday after his faltering effort to walk and his sleep last night was disturbed and restless.

8-STATE FLOOD GROUP FORMED

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—An eight-state flood control conference late Saturday adopted recommendations for formation of a Southwest Valley Association and designated Little Rock as headquarters for the new organization.

The setup will include Louisiana, Kansas, Colorado, Missouri, Arkansas, New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma. It supplants the Arkansas Valley Association, sponsoring the conference and other similar groups in southwestern watersheds.

Three Tire Firms Increase Wages

AKRON. (AP)—Three Akron rubber companies employing 22,000 workers have just announced wage increases of 5 to 8 cents an hour, and a fourth company, employing 15,000, announced it "undoubtedly will follow suit."

The companies announcing the increases, affecting all factory employees beginning Monday, were Firestone Tire and Rubber company, employing 10,000; General Tire and Rubber company, 2000, and B. F. Goodrich company, 10,000. The Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, with approximately 15,000 workers, is the other concern involved.

Neutrality Bill Passage Is Seen

WASHINGTON. (AP)—After a general discussion by the senate foreign relations committee of permanent neutrality legislation, Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.) has forecast that action would be taken "at a very early date."

Pittman said state department officials, who participated in the conference, "selected" his neutrality bill "for the purposes of their discussions." He declined to say, however, whether they had endorsed it.

The chairman announced he had amended the bill to incorporate a feature of the Clark-Nye-Vandenberg-Bone bill removing insurance protection from goods shipped in violation of the proposed law.

MOVIE CAMERA STOLEN

Somebody is getting some good flood pictures at no expense to himself. Ivie Stein, owner of Stein's Stationery store, reported to police a thief had taken a movie kodak, valued at $125, from a showcase sometime Saturday.

DINNER HONORS JIM TONIGHT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—James A. Farley, who has been a Democrat ever since he carried a torch in a Bryan parade at the age of eight, will receive the plaudits tonight of 1500 of the party thousands who call him "Jim."

President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner will head a dinner gathering of government officials. Democratic committeemen and state chairmen, and prominent business and sporting figures. Standards will designate tables for each of the 48 states.

The President will speak. Garner, as master of ceremonies, will call the roll of distinguished guests by states. Helen Jepson and Lawrence Tibbett of the Metropolitan Opera Company will sing.

The occasion will represent a new climax in a political career which may lead the genial, husky Farley next to try for the governorship of New York.

Friends wondered what he would have to say in closing the dinner, because he has kissed the blarney stone in Ireland since many of them saw him last. Some said it was blarney, when just before election, he predicted the Democratic ticket would carry every state except New Hampshire and Vermont. It turned out to be true.

Catholics Are Winning 'Revolt'

JALAPA, Vera Cruz, Mexico. (AP)—Catholic leaders declared today they were winning their "peaceful rebellion" to force a government reopening of churches and beseeched followers to refrain from public demonstrations.

Attorney Fernando Casas Aleman, Gov. Miguel Aleman's assistant, added a similar appeal.

NAVY, ARMY IN MANEUVERS

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—Soldiers, sailors and marines, full-panoplied for war, are at sea off Southern California today in secret joint maneuvers.

From the harbors of Los Angeles and San Diego, the troop ships and fighting ships moved out in wartime secrecy some time after midnight.

There are at least 750 army troops, 3700 marines, five battleships, four heavy cruisers, 10 destroyers and some auxiliary navy craft and 70 or more marine corps planes in the forces assigned to the exercise. It is known as fleet landing exercise No. 3.

The forces will divide into two units, a defending and an attacking contingent. The ultimate scene of action will be the fleet's private shooting grounds, San Clemente island, some 60 miles offshore.

GUNMEN FIRE ON AXE HITS THREE IN BERLIN

HEFLIN, Ala. (AP)—Two masked gunmen killed two men and wounded a woman and a man in a roadhouse near here late last night. Today Sheriff W. T. Prestidge predicted arrests "within the next three or four days, because it looks like jealousy and I think I know who did it."

Black stockings pulled over their heads, the gunmen "kicked in" the roadhouse door, uttered only the words: "put up your hands," and then opened fire on seven persons in the building.

Burt Austin, 25, proprietor, and Herbert Clayton, 27, of Muscadine community, were killed. Mrs. Ruth Jean McDaniel, 20, fell with a bullet through the abdomen. Physicians offered little hope for her recovery.

A man whose arm was broken by a bullet was identified only as "a Mr. Bell from Tallapoosa, Ga."

New Bill Hits Publication of False Statement

Wilful publication of untruths in a newspaper, periodical or book would be made a misdemeanor under a new section of the California penal code introduced as a bill in the last assembly session, it was revealed today.

Assemblyman Cecil R. King, Los Angeles merchant and Democratic representative from the sixty-seventh district, introduced the measure placing responsibility for wilfully misrepresenting the facts, or publishes as facts statements known to him to be untrue or erroneous through gross carelessness, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor." The bill, referred to the committee on judiciary, makes responsible the author, owner, editor and business manager in case of a newspaper, or the producer of a leaflet, pamphlet, or book.

It provides that "Every person who publishes in a newspaper or other periodical or in a leaflet, pamphlet, or book a statement wilfully misrepresenting the facts, or publishes as facts statements known to him to be untrue or erroneous through gross carelessness, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor." The bill, referred to the committee on judiciary, makes responsible the author, owner, editor and business manager in case of a newspaper, or the producer of a leaflet, pamphlet, or book.

AXE HITS THREE IN BERLIN

BERLIN. (AP)—The white-gloved, frock-coated executioner of Berlin's Ploetzensee prison swung his axe three times at dawn today, beheading three Germans accused of high treason against the third reich.

The victims were Friedrich Richter, 29; Guenther Jaigan, 25, and Johannes Eggert, 39. The three decapitations brought the number of week-end executions to six. Of the three men beheaded Saturday, one was sentenced to death for treason, and two for "non-political" murders.

Dr. Phillips to Talk Here Tonight

Stormy weather failed to hold up Dr. Hubert Phillips of Fresno State Teachers college, who will address a federal forum audience at 7:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium. Dr. Phillips came to Southern California ahead of the week-end storm.

His talk tonight will deal with the supreme court and social changes. The subject was selected before President Roosevelt's announcement of plans for increasing the size of the court.

Taxes Rebated by Richest Man

HYDERABAD, India. (AP)—The world's richest man the Nizam of Hyderabad, today remitted 4,000,000 rupees (about $1,500,000) of taxes to his 14,500,000 subjects in celebration of the silver jubilee of his reign.

FOUR PERISH IN WINTER STORMS

(by The Associated Press)

At least four deaths were attributed today to freezing weather and snowstorms that visited the Northwest and Far West over the week end.

Highway traffic virtually was paralyzed by snow in parts of Minnesota and the Dakotas. Southern California suffered drenching rains and a dust storm swirled over the Oklahoma panhandle.

Two Minnesota motorists were killed in traffic accidents during a blinding snowstorm. A South Dakota farmer lost his way in a snowstorm and perished within a mile of his home. A man missing for two weeks was found frozen to death west of Grants Pass, Ore. The frozen bodies of a man and woman were found in a snowbank on a side road near Dodgeville, Wis. The man, Charles Fetterman, 45, had been shot to death with a shotgun, found near his body, and the unidentified woman had been beaten to death.

Highway crews worked in 24-hour shifts to rescue marooned motorists in Minnesota.

Relief crews won a five-day battle against snow to bring food supplies to Denny, a mining settlement in the Northern California mountain region.

FIVE WIN BATTLE IN OREGON STORMS

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Stories of bitter, terrifying battles against starvation and exposure came out of the snow country of southwestern Oregon today. Six men challenged the elements. Five won. Searchers shuffled over the deep snow to find the body of Jack Wilbur, 40, of Illahe, Ore. They took it from the drift where he apparently collapsed two weeks ago as he struggled through a storm in the Siskiyou forest north of Powers.

Today the search for five other men, four miners and a trapper, was over. Their own heroism in the wilderness of snow saved their lives.

A. J. Leaton, 42, trapper from Eugene, reached civilization after 18 days among the missing. It took him four days to go 11 miles on Elk Mountain. Deputy Sheriff Clifford Thornton of Douglas county and Marshall Waggoner searched the abandoned mines for storm victims but the hardy prospectors had survived.

Dan Wolfolk and Bill Fish trekked down Graves creek from the Copper King mine to reach safety at Grant's Pass. Charles Gaden, battled the snow for two days without snowshoes, and found his way to Glendale from Puzler mine.

Thornton and Waggoner found John A. Hamilton, 52, alive at Greenback mine.

FROZEN FRUIT MAKES MANY PRODUCTS

But Federal Farm Chief
Knows of No Method
For Salvage

Orange county by-products plants have been busy since the recent freeze, salvaging citrus fruit which had been damaged; but the federal farm administration knows of no satisfactory method of salvaging citrus fruits which have been frozen.

A. A. Tapp, assistant administrator, told Senator Carl Hayden, Arizona Democrat, that the administration "has given careful consideration to possible methods of salvaging frosted fruits" without finding "any satisfactory outlets for large volumes of fruit of this character."

Small Returns

According to Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tapp, Tapp is both right and wrong. There's an outlet through by-products for most of the damaged fruit; but the grower won't get a lot of money for it.

However, his returns probably will pay the cost of picking and handling this fruit. If it weren't for the by-products outlet, he'd have to pay for having it picked and pay for having it disposed of, with no return at all.

Feed for Cattle

Frozen fruit can be used for making a wide variety of by-products, including marmalade, pectin and essential oil. This has a relatively high value. Pulp is used for cattle feed. Some pulp has been sent to England for this purpose and there have been repeat orders.

Orange county probably has a larger number of by-products plants than surrounding areas. Fruit from other districts has been sent here for processing.

Enforcement Problem

The only problem in this connection, said Tapp, has been to be sure that no unscrupulous operator was able to intercept such fruit and sell it on the fresh fruit market.

Despite this situation, Tapp is still rather pessimistic.

"As you are doubtless aware," he said, "it has always been much more difficult to develop satisfactory by-products from the navel oranges as compared with the Valencia variety. At this time it does not appear that there is any satisfactory outlet which would take large volumes of frozen fruit at prices which would justify such action."

574 Killed in Madrid Shelling

MADRID (AP)—Insurgent bombs and shells have killed 574 persons in Madrid since the beginning of the Fascist rebellion last July, the government announced officially.

More than 18,800 others have been wounded in artillery bombardments and air raids, officials asserted.

The official report divided the dead as follows: Men 150, women 161, children 263.

She Sued Rubinoff for Heart Balm

A breach of promise suit, asking $100,000 to save her heart, was filed in New York by Peggy Garcia, above, former hat check girl in a Harlem night club, against Dave Rubinoff, the radio violinist, but last week the suit was dismissed by the court when it came up for hearing. Rubinoff denied he even knew the girl, despite the fact that she asserted their romance began in 1933 and that Rubinoff promised to marry her while they were in Philadelphia. ### TOURISTS FLOCK INTO STATE FOR MURDERS

SACRAMENTO.—Twenty-seven foreign countries, four distant United States possessions and territories, and the 48 states of the union were represented in the 252,727 non-resident cars that entered California in 1936, Ray Ingels, director of motor vehicles, announced today.

This represents an increase of more than 18 per cent over the 1935 total of 213,428, Ingels said. The number of persons in the cars was given as 757,167 last year, an increase of 23 per cent over the 1935 total of 615,728.

Arizona headed the list with 19,345 cars, followed by Oregon with 17,300; Washington was third with 14,451, and Texas was fourth, with 12,551 automobiles entered from that state, Ingels said.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—A city grand jury has indicted four persons on charges of murder in connection with three husband-and-wife slayings.

City Judge William F. Borders last week asked the jury to investigate what he called a "cycle of husband-and-wife slayings."

Those indicted: Mrs. Cecelia Zellman and Thomas Pierce on charges of slaying George Zellman, 76, the woman's husband, a psychic healer, Friday last week.

Mrs. Myrtle Voris, charged with slaying Virgil Voris, Jan. 30.

Mrs. Lucille Shaw, negress, charged with slaying Richard Shaw Feb. 1.

With these indictments, eight murder cases are scheduled for trial in the term beginning Feb. 23.

Those burned were R. H. Brown, condition critical; J. L. Brown, father of the children; J. B. Adams; John P. Creach, and G. C. Carver.

ORANGE SHOW DISPLAY IS OUTLINED

Orange County Exhibit Is to Depict Typical Local Home

Orange county possesses the picturesque beauty seen in motion picture settings.

That is the idea the county is trying to put over in the exhibit which will be in the 27th annual San Bernardino National Orange show, to be staged Feb. 18 to 28.

Orange county's exhibit will show a model Orange county home nestling in its setting of miniature orange trees and gardens.

The "Gay Hollywood" theme of the orange show provides for more lavish and spectacular results in both feature exhibits and show decorations than has any motif chosen in previous years, according to Joseph E. Rich, chairman of the decorations committee.

Workmen today completed the task of hanging the last of the 70,000 square yards of costly velours, satins and broadcloth. With the decoration completed, the exposition building has been transformed into a spectacular and glamorous Hollywood stage setting, advance notices said.

Convict Ex-Police Chief as Slayer

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A. L. Burton, former High Springs chief of police, was re-convicted on a charge of first degree murder by a circuit court jury for the slaying of Miss Bonnie Collins, city clerk, on Dec. 31, 1935.

The jury recommended mercy, thus automatically fixing a sentence of life imprisonment. Miss Collins died in a Lake City hospital two days after she was struck by a wrench while working in her office. A negro was shot to death at the same time.

Operation on Sex Offenders Urged

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A police leader who admitted he was frustrated in the hunt for the killer of Mary Ellen Babcock, 18, has advocated emasculation of all men convicted as habitual sex offenders.

"Fines or prison terms cannot cure disarranged minds," said Police Commissioner James W. Higgins. "Sex offenders should be turned over to psychiatrists, and if they cannot make them fit for society then they should be turned over to the surgeons."

OUT OF RETIREMENT

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—The semi-retirement which has shielded Norma Shearer since the death of her husband, Irving Thalberg, a few months ago, was relaxed last night when she attended a movie preview. The picture was "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," with Joan Crawford in the title role created by Miss Shearer in the original talkie production.

Personality Sketches

Of U. S. Supreme Court Justices

(Editor's Note: The personnel of the supreme court is of major importance as a result of President Roosevelt's latest recommendation for legislation to permit him to increase its membership to 15 and to provide for retirement of justices over 70. Following is the seventh of a series of short sketches of the lives of the nine members of the court. By reading these, one may be able to predict how members of the court will vote on future legislation following the President's recent plea for the court to subscribe to his New Deal policies.)

Judge Willis Van Devanter, 77 years old, stands rock-ribbed among the conservatives on the supreme court bench.

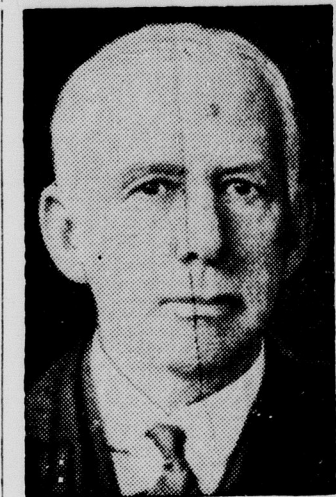

His greatest distinction is that he has written fewer decisions than any other member of the court. Since 1930 he handed down only 22 opinions out of the 963 the court has handed down.

Born in Ohio, he became an Ohio lawyer and when 24 years old went to Wyoming. There he became attorney for the Union Pacific and the big cattle companies. Later, he was appointed assistant attorney general in charge of the public lands division cases.

In 1903 he became a judge of the circuit court of appeals and in 1910 he went up to the supreme court.

There his vote has always been on the Tory side. He has remained at all times the most reactionary of the justices.

Roosevelt can depend on Van Devanter; the President can know for a certainty that the aged justice will oppose all future New Deal legislation.

'You Have to Wear Clothes, So Why Not Enjoy It' Says One of Best-Dressed Men

By MARY ELIZABETH PLUMMER

NEW YORK. (AP)—Frank Chapman, recently designated one of America's best dressed men, airily swung his snakehead walking stick with a shark's tooth head today and summed up his clothes philosophy. "You've got to wear clothes, so why not enjoy it?"

Chapman, who is a singer and sportsman, is the strong, dark and handsome half of "America's best dressed couple," his beautiful wife, Gladys Swarthout, opera singer and movie actress—who sometimes buys a suit from the same bolt of cloth he has chosen—has been twice on the New York designers' list of "ten best dressed women."

The secret of her success with clothes is: She dresses to please her husband. His sartorial success hinges on his idea of deriving pleasure and comfort from dress—"since you've got to dress."

He Is Intrepid

There is about Chapman's wardrobe a certain intrepidity.

He dares to wear thin black wool socks instead of silk, with his dinner clothes.

He dares to wear a striped coat and waistcoat with plain trousers, instead of a plain cutaway and striped trousers—and a wine colored dinner suit.

Not a Loud Dresser

Chapman wears with this suit a yellow and black tie having a dragon print, and gay yellow and black socks. Off-hand, one would think it rather loud but men seem to be wearing these things.

He is not, in general, a loud dresser.

He is not an extravagant dresser. He believes it is possible for men to dress presently on a $150 a year—if they have a few things to start with.

Last but not least, his overcoat. It is of wonderfully soft navy blue cashmere—just the kind of coat a lady enjoys when she weeps on a man's shoulder.

Root Estate Goes To Three Children

NEW YORK (AP)—The bulk of the estate of Ellihu Root, international lawyer and statesman, was left to his three children, Edith Root Grant, Edward Wales Root and Ellihu Root, jr., his will today showed.

The will gave no indication of the value of the estate. To the trustees of Hamilton college, Clinton, N. Y., Mr. Root left $200,000 for the endowment fund, and to the trustees of Beta chapter of Sigma Phi society at Hamilton college, $5,000 for the endowment fund.

Farm Products
Exports Drop

WASHINGTON (AP)—The agriculture department reported today that exports of farm products for the first half of the present marketing season were $57,092,000 below the first half of 1935-36, while imports gained $88,511,000.

Exports for the July-December period were valued at $413,001,000 as against $470,093,000 for a similar period a year earlier.

FILE TAX APPEALS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Three radio and motion picture entertainment companies headed by Ed Wynn appealed to the board of tax appeals today from findings that they still owed $207,506 in taxes on 1935 income. Charles Laughton, British motion picture actor, protested a tax deficiency of $104,430 on 1934 and 1935 income.

PLAN COURSE FOR HOUSE KEEPERS

Will Ask Supervisors to Sponsor Course in This County

Do you need a housekeeper in your home?

Lots of Orange county people do, and to provide for this evident need three social service agencies are joining forces to establish a training project for women.

The National Reemployment Service, the county welfare department and the State Relief administration expect to select proper types of women for the training school, which is to be provided for in a new WPA project which the board of supervisors will be asked to sponsor.

Six Weeks Course

Patterned after a similar project in San Diego county which has proven highly successful, the Orange county project will offer training for women in a six or eight weeks course, specializing in domestic duties.

Women will be trained in cooking, serving, housekeeping, arrangement of flowers, proper laying and serving the table, how to act under certain conditions in a household and to keep up a high standard of personal appearance.

Standard Wage

It is expected that the women sent into homes will have a standardized wage, probably $30 a month with board and room and a certain amount of time off.

In San Diego county, according to Mrs. Josephine Heale, head of the WPA social department, the project has been so successful that it is difficult to keep women in the training school, because the demand is so great. There is a waiting list of people who want the specially trained housekeepers.

It is expected that a large furnished house will be rented, where the women will be trained in the fine points of proper housekeeping.

KIDNAP CASE WITNESS IS SUICIDE IN CELL

ALBANY, N. Y.—Christopher Miller, a material witness in the O'Connell kidnaping case, hanged himself in the Albany county jail late Saturday.

L. B. SCHOOL CHIEF TAKES EASTERN JOB

LONG BEACH.—Dr. Will French, superintendent of schools here since Aug. 1, 1935, has announced his resignation in order to accept a post with the school of education, Columbia university, New York.

MINE CLAIM INTEREST
SOLD FOR $98,000

BAKERSFIELD.—William H. Benson and Edwin Pyle have sold a two-thirds interest in six Sky-line gold claims to the Plute Mining company for $98,000, agreements filed in the hall of records showed today. The claims are in the Pine Tree canyon district, 15 miles northwest of Mojave.

19 MORE INDICTED IN ELECTION PROBE

KANSAS CITY.—Nineteen more Kansas City election officials and workers were indicted by a federal grand jury here late Saturday, swelling to 75 the number indicted since jurors opened their investigation of the Nov. 3 election on Dec. 14.

Springtime Wedding Plans Revealed at Valentine's Day Reception and Tea

Miss Berkner Will Be a May Bride

Seventy-Five Invited to Announcement Party Sunday

At a beautiful Sunday afternoon tea, one of the most charming larger social functions of the new year, Mrs. E. A. Berkner of 2241 Riverside drive, yesterday received friends between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock, announcing to them the engagement of her daughter, Miss Marjorie Berkner, to Lefter Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Holmes of Los Angeles.

In the receiving line with Mrs. Berkner, who wore a gown in a figured black chiffon over rose taffeta, with a gardenia corsage, were the attractive bride-to-be, in black velvet with figured white satin tunic and corsage of orchids, and Mrs. Holmes, mother of her fiancée, who wore a gown of black net over black taffeta with gardenias. Flowers worn by the three were gifts from Mr. Holmes.

Miss Berkner's two sisters, Mrs. Allan Carstensen and Miss Fern Berkner, assisted in hostess duties during the reception, the former gowned in black satin and sheer with red rosebuds and Miss Berkner in green satin with yellow buds.

Lights Flash News

The manner chosen to reveal the betrothal was most unique, and in keeping with the work of the bride and bridegroom-to-be, both employees of the Edison company, was by means of electric lights.

The lights threw the names and date, May 23, in silhouetted letters against a pretty background of a small church and cottages with red, heart-shaped windows over the mantelpiece.

On the tea table to which the guests were invited in groups throughout the receiving hours, tall red tapers rose from a bed of white carnations, and other red tapers in crystal holders added their soft light to the pretty scene.

Mrs. Woodrow Barnett, a Sigma Tau Psi sorority sister of the bride-to-be, and Mrs. Sam Long of Fullerton, a close friend, poured.

Potted palms and bowls of white stock and red carnations brightened the room in which the guests were received, offering gay contrast to the rain and dark clouds outside.

Seventy-five guests were invited to hear the news of the approaching nuptials of the attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berkner, who is a graduate of Santa Ana high school and business college, and whose marriage with Mr. Holmes will take place in the Laguna Beach Presbyterian church on the May date.

Mr. Holmes is a graduate of Stanford university, and has been a resident of Santa Ana about two years, being in the employ of the Edison company for the last year. Miss Berkner has been with the company for two years.

Adding to the happiness of yesterday was the presence of an aunt of Miss Berkner from Sleepy Eye, Minn., Mrs. Alfred Berkner.

The Invited Guests

Other guests were Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. George Berenson of Los Angeles; Mrs. Andy McLean of Bakersfield; Mrs. Thomas Glick of Santa Barbara; Mrs. Bruce Vegeley of San Pedro; Miss Betty Uphaw, Mrs. Lucille Breeding, Mrs. George Whitney, and Mrs. Sam Long of Fullerton; Mrs. James Inch of Whittier; Mrs. Clyde McDaniell, Miss Dorothy Rose Young, Miss Beulah Davis and Mrs. Clyde Higgins of Orange; Mrs. Fayette Birtcher, Miss Jean Barry and Mrs. Kenneth Eldred of Anaheim; Mrs. Thomas Jentes of Garden Grove.

Mrs. Woodrow Barnett, Lucille Knight, Cora McGuire, Anna Glotzbach, Josephine Hodson, Constance Vegeley Baird, M. Terhune, A. I. ## W. C. T. U. PLANS FOR MARCH EVENTS

"Adult Education" was the subject of an interesting talk given by Mrs. Golden Weston, director of adult education in Santa Ana, at the regular monthly meeting of Tustin W. C. T. U. Friday afternoon in the Tustin Presbyterian church parlor.

During the business session, at which the president, Mrs. W. A. Hazen, presided, plans were made for the next meeting, March 12, at the Tustin Presbyterian church banquet hall. Committees in charge of arrangements for the noon covered-dish luncheon, program, and penny party are as follows: Program, Mrs. J. L. Marshall and Mrs. C. E. Utt; luncheon, Mrs. C. L. Greenwood, Miss Melissa Montgomery, Mrs. F. Williams and Miss Clara Macomber; tables, Mrs. Cora Lee, Mrs. Laura Custer and Mrs. W. F. O'Hara; and dishwashing, Mrs. Genevieve Whitney and Mrs. Mollie Smith.

Announcement was made that the next meeting of the Orange county W. C. T. U. executive board will be held March 2 in Orange. The president appointed Miss M. Montgomery health director and Miss Clara Macomber, child welfare director.

Mrs. Eleanor Duncan conducted the devotional period and Mrs. Marian Marshall entertained with two vocal solos, with Miss Audrey Pieper at the piano.

PAST MATRONS OF COUNTY ARE FETED

Mrs. W. T. Lambert and Mrs. Jeanette Tarpley presided as co-hostesses Saturday at a 12:30 luncheon at the Doris-Kathryn, entertaining as their guests the 1936 past matrons of Orange county Eastern Star chapter. The hostesses used the Valentine motif for their decorations, and marked places at their table for Mrs. Jean Adams of Huntington Beach, Mrs. Alice Choinberg Smith of Garden Grove, Mrs. Gwendolyn Thompson of Orange, Mrs. Irma Lachenmeyer of Artesia, Mrs. Ina Lyles of Yorba Linda, Mrs. Esther Long and Mrs. Nettie Kirk, both of Fullerton, Mrs. Flora Bruns and Miss Henrietta Bohling of Santa Ana, Mrs. Lambert, past matron of Laguna Beach chapter, now living in Santa Ana, and Mrs. Tarpley of Santa Ana, who was a grand officer in 1936.

and Mary Emil Majors, and the two sisters, Miss Fern Berkner and Mrs. Carstensen.

Weddings Are Solemnized Sunday

St. Valentine's Day was the wedding day of several Orange county brides and for another who has chosen one of the country's coast towns for her new home.

One of the loveliest of the nuptial ceremonies, though a very quiet one, was that in which Miss Katherine McDermott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. McDermott of 206 West Twentieth street, Santa Ana, became the bride of William A. Heger, son of Mrs. T. Barth of West La Palma, Anaheim.

The bride, who wore a black-man-tailored suit with a white blouse and black accessories, and a corsage of orchids and hyacinths, was attended by Miss Jane Hill, one of her closest friends, the latter in a green wool suit with black fur trim and matching accessories and a gardenia corsage. William H. Wheeler served the bridegroom as best man.

Relatives and a very few close friends witnessed the ceremony, which was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

As a setting for the wedding, the house was decorated with spring flowers and white tapers, and a lovely wedding cake was cut by the bride after the ceremony. Assisting in the serving were the bride's sister, Lucie McDermott; her sister-in-law, Mrs. Allan L. McDermott, Miss Beryl Hatch, and Miss Ruth Dunlap. For old-fashioned fun, the bride, to carry out the wedding tradition, the pretty bride wore a diamond and pearl brooch, which had been a gift from the bride's father to her mother on their wedding day. Her "something blue" was a touch of that color among the blossoms in the nosegay of the bride, and the "something borrowed," a lace-trimmed handkerchief borrowed from her sister.

After the informal reception, the newlyweds left for a motor trip to San Francisco, and on their return will make their home in Fullerton at 537 West Jacaranda street.

The bride is a graduate of Santa Ana schools and junior college, and was a member of the Sisterhood of Spinsters. The bridegroom was graduated from the University of Southern California. He is now department manager of Sears Roebuck store in Fullerton.

In a quiet church ceremony at 4 o'clock yesterday in the Episcopal church of the Messiah, Miss Frances May Brown, daughter of the W. F. Browns of 1234 South Barton street, and Herman Rexford Brown of San Bernardino were married. The Rev. Mr. Perry Austin of St. Luke's church, Long Beach, performing the rites.

Both of the young people are Santa Ana junior college graduates, and the bridegroom also of the University of California at Berkeley. They will make their home in San Bernardino.

Beverly Hills was to be the setting yesterday afternoon for the wedding of John Bechtold of Laguna, and Miss Shirley McCaughy of Beverly Hills, the rites being planned in the Lutheran church there. A reception was to follow in the home of the bridegroom's brother in Balboa, and after a honeymoon in the north the couple will make their home in the coast town.

MRS. HADDON CONCLUDES PARTY SERIES

Concluding an interesting series of three luncheons at which she had presided during the past week, starting with one at which she and Mrs. H. T. Dunning were co-hostesses last Tuesday, Mrs. Sarah Johnston Haddon entertained twenty-two at her home at 202 1/2 South Sycamore Saturday afternoon.

A delicious one o'clock luncheon, served with St. Valentine appointments, preceded several hours of contract play, prizes in which went to Mrs. Harold Dale who won first prize, Mrs. J. B. Roberts second, and Mrs. N. A. Beals third. Others invited for this final party of the series were the Mesdames Sherman Stevens, Milton McMurray, Bert Campbell, Walter Vandermast, H. T. Duckett, R. G. Tuthill, George Perkins, A. W. Rutan, R. C. Holles, Walter Prince, Fred Forgy, Horace Stevens, Rex Kennedy, Lyman Farwell, R. H. Winckler, Ed Hall, M. G. Borgmeyer, and Wilbur Barr.

Crucifixes and pictures of Martin Luther had been ordered taken from schools in Oldenburg Province, Germany.

Local Couple Married At Laguna

Mr. and Mrs. Newell T. Vandermast were honeymooning this morning somewhere in northern California after a quiet little wedding ceremony yesterday afternoon.

The St. Valentine's Day nuptials came as a surprise to their many friends, for at Miss Mary Malsed's formal announcement tea during the Christmas holiday season, they had been informed that the wedding would occur sometime in March.

The one o'clock ceremony was performed in the pretty little St. Mary's Episcopal church at Laguna Beach by the Rev. Robert H. Hogarth, and with only the couple's attendants, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Knight of Los Angeles, witnessing the rites.

Miss Malsed was smartly attired in an oxford grey tailored suit, with a vivid coral blouse and hat of the same shade, and with black patent leather shoes and bag. She wore a lovely corsage of gardenia and lilies of the valley as her only ornament.

After their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Vandermast will be at home at 1814 Jefferson Place, Santa Ana.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clarence Malsed of Palm Springs, has been employed in Santa Ana, and made her home at 811 Lowell street. She had previously attended Orange High school and Santa Ana Junior and business colleges.

Mr. Vandermast is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vandermast of Santa Ana, and is a graduate of Stanford University, where he was affiliated with Delta Upsilon fraternity. He is now associated with Vandermast and Company.

AFRICAN THEME STUDIED BY CHURCH GROUP

An interesting session was enjoyed by those who attended last night's world study group meeting at the First Baptist church. The topic of the program was a playlet entitled "American Eagle," in which Robert McBurney, Dorothy Robbins, Phyllis Howland, Dorothy Brush, Eugene Lange and Eugene Cairns were featured. They were assisted by Carroll Miller and Sam Campbell, and were directed by Mrs. E. A. Baird.

The Rev. Harry Evan Owings then introduced the guest speaker of the evening, the Rev. Jesse R. Wilson, who spoke on "Why Conquer Africa?" After his very illuminating talk, the African theme was continued by W. H. Harrison, who led a study session, and by the Rev. Mr. Owings, who conducted a round table.

The evening was concluded with the serving of tea by members of the Fahofo class, with decorations and refreshments all symbolic of Africa. Miss Ella Vozie and Miss Vera Coad were assisted at pouring by Miss Irene Catland and Miss Ruth Sanford.

The committee in charge of arrangements included Mrs. J. W. Brown, Mrs. Vivian Nicholls, Mrs. L. E. Coffman, Mrs. Isabel Rowell, Mrs. J. F. B. Richards, Miss Anna Lee Johnson, and Miss Edna Ingham.

MARY STODDARD

Maternal Parent Could Learn Valuable Lesson From Little Feathered Mother

By MARY STODDARD

Our Creator endowed the human mother with brains, the mother bird with instinct. When I read some of the letters from sons and daughters of spoiled mothers I cannot help but feel that these maternal parents could learn a valuable lesson from the feathered mother. The mother bird feeds and cares for her babies in the nest until they are strong enough to fly away and make nests of their own. She is a wise mother and often assists them out into the big, wonderful world. She doesn't cover the deserted nest with empty wings and go into a mournful dirge.

Why cannot the human mother accept the same calm, philosophical view as regards her cooing babies? Why does she not realize that some day Mary will meet the man she loves and want to marry and plan her own future accordingly? Why, oh why, will she so often try to pick Mary's husband for her and then try to live her life for her? The following letter is just another example:

Dear Miss Stoddard: You have given so many advice that I am quite sure you can help me, too. Also, will you be kind enough to permit your readers who care to express their opinions on my problem?

I am in my early 30's. I spent all of my young days with my mother who was and still is ill.

My brothers and sister went to their respective wars in life and I, being the youngest, stayed on. Many and many the day I gave up my pleasures to stay with mother.

I finally succeeded in getting business training and only worked for a time when my brother-in-law passed away. I went to stay with my sister until she got help and in the meantime would help mother a day or two a week.

Before I knew it, many years passed and she began to shirk her duty to those two, and from pity and love I stayed until 10 years of the best part of my life had gone.

I was so busy and had so much work that I hardly got out, let alone meet any people. Through taking her children to a summer resort one season I met a man and after knowing him for three years, we were married.

My mother and my sister both knew him as they came out and I introduced him to them. Mother immediately disliked him because he was not of our religion and because he was not wealthy. I could not tell mother I was married to him, because of her health. I thought when she got to feeling better I would break the news to her.

They watch every move I make. At present I am working and I go out Saturday evening and get home around 12 o'clock mother is very, very angry with me. Sometimes I go to spend the week-end with my husband and mother cries and says I do not care how alone she is and I am not kind to her.

I so long to tell her and go to my husband, but I am afraid to shock her with the news. Sometimes I think I did my husband a great injustice by marrying him, but he says he couldn't bear it if I did not marry him, and while he is very lonely and so am I, and says he hopes before long mother will be in position so we can tell her.

Miss Stoddard, what shall I do, keep on the way I am, which

Campaign for Members Is Launched

As a climax to the winter season, Y. W. C. A. officers and members are now planning a two-weeks new member campaign leading up to the spring membership dinner to be held on the evening of March 9 in the clubrooms on East Fifth street.

During the two-weeks period, a committee working under Mrs. Cotton Mather, as chairman, and Mrs. W. B. Williams, vice chairman, will make calls on prospective members, and a general invitation is also extended to all women who are willing to subscribe to the organization's purpose.

Serving on the contact committee are Miss Mabel McFadden, Miss Lena Thomas, Miss Effie Douglas, Miss Harriet Howard, Miss M. E. Wyant, and the Mesdames John Henderson, J. C. Gardner, John Lashy, Bruce Monroe, Ray Adkinson, C. F. Smith, Dexter Ball, Hiram Currey, Hugh Gerard, Dixon Guthrie, Fred Jayne, K. H. Sutherland, Laura McNaught, Paul Bailey, T. A. Winbiger, S. Catlin, S. H. Finley, F. M. Bradley, H. C. Chaney, C. E. Price, I. L. Brisenidine, R. E. Coulter, M. B. Wellington, David G. Tidball and Rufus Bond.

At the dinner on March 9, Mrs. Virginia Estley, secretary of Scripps college and former president and secretary of the San Diego Y. W. C. A. will speak. The dinner will be the highlight of the semi-annual membership drive.

Matching Bolster Panel Also Makes Stunning

PATTERN 5790

There's the charm of Grandmother's time in this lacy panel-inset, a luxurious bit of dress-up for your "best" bedspread! In string, it measures 24 x 35 inches, but goes quickly for the background in lace stitch. It would also be effective as a door panel. The stunning panel running lengthwise of the bolster may also serve as a scarf. Crochet this beautiful design of humble, durable string in finer cotton for smaller panels. In pattern 5790 you will find detailed instructions and charts for making the panels shown; illustrations of the panel and the stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address and Pattern Number.

EDWARD NOT TO DELAY WEDDING

LONDON. (AP)—Former King Edward VIII was understood today to have answered his royal family's plea to delay his wedding to Wallis Simpson with a determined "No!"

The exiled Duke of Windsor's "irrevocable" decision to wed the woman for whose love he renounced his throne was brought to his mother and his sovereign-brother yesterday by the Princess Royal, the family's emissary to Edward at Enzesfeld castle, near Vienna.

She was believed to have met with more success in clearing up the self-exiled monarch's troubled financial affairs. It was believed a two-point amicable agreement had been reached.

1. King George, it was thought, would make Edward an allowance out of the royal family's private income of $75,000 to $100,000 a year.

2. Edward would reduce the price of $750,000 he was reportedly demanding for Sandringham House to a figure which Queen Mother Mary and King George might meet. They were reported to have offered $500,000.

Three Accused As Drunk Drivers

Three persons were booked yesterday at the county jail on drunk driving charges. They were to be arraigned in Santa Ana justice court today.

They were Eugene F. Chapple, 36, 1215 West Second street; Ira M. Nichols, 30, 118 East Pomona street; and Pablo Chavez, 31, 336 West Sycamore street.

Chapple was arrested by Highway Patrolman Floyd Groover, the other two by Orange police.

Poor Strategy in Attack

WITH the attack on President Roosevelt's supreme court program taking much the same blood-and-thunder trend that marked the later stages of the Landon campaign, people are beginning to wonder if the outcome will be the same.

It is true that the Liberty Leaguers and Al Smith have been remarkably silent. But the same tactics which they employed in the dismal Republican drive are being adopted by critics of the court change: to wit, shouts of "dictator" and "tyrant."

Note this quotation from an eastern newspaper: We saw the executive power grasp in one hand the sword and purse of the nation and in the other the legislative and judicial authority and hold them in a relentless grip to the complete annihilation of our constitutional rights. The superb constitution under which our country has grown great and respected is torn to shreds.

These words weren't written about Roosevelt, however, but about Lincoln in 1862. And Lincoln, with the backing of the people and a congressional majority, put an end to human slavery, although it had been held constitutional by the supreme court.

Opponents of Roosevelt should learn from history that it is stupid strategy to attack a popular president. A calm well-organized assault on the particular issue involved is much more effective.

What with Eugene O'Neill and Carl Van Ossiet-sky both in the hospital, it begins to look as if Nobel prize-winning doesn't agree with everybody.

Parking Meters at Long Beach

REMEMBER the big howl that went up from local citizenry when the city council proposed parking meters here to solve the downtown parking congestion? And how at Long Beach the outraged populace reacted the same way when the meters were installed there several months ago?

Well, here's the latest word of the subject from the Long Beach Bulletin:

Popularity of the new parking plan has grown with its use. Chief McClelland said. He pointed out that tourists, especially, had praised the accommodations afforded by the meters. Many out of town visitors, favorably impressed by the convenience of metered parking, have voiced their approval in comments to patrolmen on the street and to the office of the chief, saying they will boost for similar installations in their home towns.

That Long Beach merchants have profited by increased trade from outlying communities as a result of the improved parking condition is revealed by the fact that visiting shoppers almost unanimously favor the plan, the chief said.

The success of the system in Long Beach is attracting widespread attention. Scarcely a day passes but that a number of inquiries reach Chief McClelland's office seeking information on the meters. Inquiries come from city officials and citizens in all parts of the United States.

Maybe it would be a wise idea for our councilmen to look into this meter plan again; perhaps considering the installation of some 50 meters downtown where property owners are agreeable to a test.

It may sound funny now, but the only senator the President openly spoke for last campaign was George W. Norris, age 76.

That Big Word 'If'

THE FEDERAL treasury department very kindly informs that Uncle Sam's debt of 34½ billion dollars would be wiped out, if each of the 129 millions of us paid our share—$267.36.

It is always nice to know what one could do with money, if he had it and, perhaps, it pays to keep a staff of experts in Washington to tell how juicy the grapes are that hang 'way up beyond our reach but when, if ever, the many millions of us get hold of $267.36, we will want to know whereat the debts are to be liquidated.

More than half of the national debt is owed to banks and about a third of it to insurance companies and big corporations. It would be nice of the treasury department to inform what it would cost each of these creditors to cancel Uncle Sam's debts by sacrificing their holdings.

That Dionne quintuplet scare reminds us that the tourist season is near and the plot makes excellent publicity.

Higher Wages a Good Sign

MOST economists know that higher wages raise the living standards of labor and help stimulate a beneficial economic cycle which leads toward prosperity.

So it's heartening to see the tire and automobile companies boost pay of their workers.

Firestone, Goodrich, and General tire companies have granted increases of from 5 to 8 cents an hour; and Packard has followed the lead of General Motors in a jump of 5 cents an hour.

Labor, capital, land, management—all must get their fair share in the proceeds of industry if this nation is to attain its greatest development.

Greta Garbo's salary in 1935 was $332,500. Another immigrant girl makes good in America!

An Outstanding Omission

THE LEARNED faculty of the University of Pennsylvania put its collective brain together the other day and, after careful deliberation, chose the following men as the 10 greatest teachers in history:

Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, Leonardo da Vinci, Shakespeare, Galileo, Newton, Darwin, Pasteur and Einstein. Truly a formidable list of worthy teachers.

And yet—didn't we once hear something about a teacher named Jesus of Nazareth?

They say the depression is over, but a 2c stamp won't take a letter out of town.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

In the manner of Arnold Bennett's diary: What flair the negro has for simile! M. recalled a cook in Ohio who estimated a jar of tarragon vinegar as it takes a fish to swim across a nickle dipper. And my dad's Old Hannibal's: "Uppity as a country town baggage agent."

It is nice to go continental now and again. For breakfast: Just a flaky yellow broche and a streaming glass of chocolate. The petit déjeuner idea. Nothing more. A recent mail about hoghead cheese brought a scrumptious jar from Lottie Miles of the Kansas City Union station.

And with all the flossy confections I doubt if any excels the taste of the old-fashioned chocolate drop out of a paper sack. Strange how a man acquires an affection for some particular bit of wearing apparel. I cling to a faded sweater vest. Patched, elbow sprung, cuff shaggy.

In the shower of gifts descending on Major Bowes he often sends over what he calls a "dividend"—a smuffle of cheese, a jar of honey, or a hamper of grapefruit. Today came some apples, like the hoghead cheese, from Missouri. The gift of the governor, who raises them.

Howard Hughes has done much to atone for many of the rich young wastrels. His airplane achievements show he has what his polite and pat phrasing uncle Rupert Hughes might call "viscera." Sneerers may say Hughes is rich and has money to buy the best planes, but even the better sort buckle up. And Hughes, who knows this so well, has the courage to dare. Too, he's a fiction type hero. Flushes easily and has that engaging shyness of the almost totally deaf. Blushing is a strange pathological phenomenon. I have a super-worldly friend in whom I can always chivy a scarlet burst. By merely mentioning among strangers he blushes. They all look at him and he responds with a bonfire glow. Rather mean but stacks of fun.

Gertrude Lawrence is, to my eyes, one of the rather hokey women who always appears dazzling. Analyzed, she has few points of pulchritude but as an ensemble she's striking. It may be the dash she gives her clothes, her carriage or the jaunty toss of the head. Even her hair is a scrappy form. Anyway she proves that feminine looks are not everything. "It" plays a sizable part. I've always thought one of New York's handsomest ladies is the wife of Robert Rubin, the film executive. Too, I like the type of wide-eyed youthful beauty expressed by Will and Betty Rogers' Mary. Au contraire: I'm getting fed up with pretty men, the Robert Taylors and Tyrone Powerses, in the movies, more masculinity and less beauty. More Wallace Beerys.

The informality of Martha Deane's radio talks is to my thinking one of the delightful interludes on the air. To gab away as Martha does, repeat, fumble, back and fill and punctuate it all with surprise inflections may be acting or naïveté. I don't know. But it's mightily engaging. I've always hoped the busy Kathleen Norris could be snared for broadcasting. And talk just as she does at informal gatherings with friends. She can take the most trivial topic and make it appear exciting, tremendous. This festooning of the frivolous is a rare writing gift. Booth Tarkington can do it with a "loose talker." We need more "small talkers" and "small writers." The biggies too often wrestle with the ponderous.

My nicotine-soaked hide must finally be dried out or the years make me cantankerous. I loved tobacco in all forms and indulged each to excess. Then in sudden seizure quit. And today I find myself annoyed when a room fills with smoke. I cannot imagine why I was ever that thoughtless. I even glare at a nearby diner when he lights a cigar in the midst of my meal. I'll probably wind up one of the joy-killing fogies who putter about town, snatching cigars from ladies' lips.

I like what Edith Sitwell says about poetry's change of pace. It may float like a swan, march with pomp of waves, sigh a little air among the ruins, flutter like the dark nightingale seeking nest among old leaves. Or it may rush like a tornado sweeping doom before it. Soon we shall have a rush of poetry finely spun and pappy.

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"Oh yes, he barks. When he gets mad he's just like a police dog."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

BERLIN. — Chief trouble with Germany is that it is all dressed up and no place to go.

For four years Hitler has been giving Germany the finest military front in Europe. His troops are spotlessly uniformed. They goose-step with the precision of a Ford factory supply belt. His navy is the newest in the world and one of Europe's most efficient. The German air force is the largest in the world.

Germany's military strength is better trained, better equipped, better disciplined than any in Europe. So the big question worrying his neighbors (reported also to be worrying him) is: "What is he going to do with it?"

NEW ANTI-ALLIES TRICKS

So far Hitler's political popularity has rested chiefly upon his ability to pull out new tricks, culled to rile the ex-allies and arouse German patriotic fervor. But now, except for the return of colonies, he has exhausted the Versailles treaty tricks. The bag is about empty.

That is why the war clouds look so black over Europe. War can be a happy out for a slipping dictator. Hitler may decide finally to take it.

NOTE—Those who keep their ears close to the ground of Germany public opinion estimate that Hitler now has between 40 and 50 per cent of the people behind him. He once had 80 to 90 per cent.

BEHIND THE DRESSING

Sitting in the Adlon hotel eating a sumptuous breakfast of ham and eggs, a stranger never would dream that Germany was hard up for food. But the Adlon is window-dressing for the visitor.

Elsewhere is a different story. American newspapermen living in Berlin have been given butter cards. They are entitled to only so much butter per week.

At times in recent weeks, staid German housewives visiting the meat market have been surprised to find no sausage. The supply was exhausted. This is no laughing matter. Sausage is to Berlin as gossip is to Washington. Berliners cannot be happy without it.

RAW MATERIALS

A member of the American embassy blew an automobile tire and went around to the garage to buy a new one.

He was informed that he couldn't—at least not until he had to the triumphant green pushing its way upward in that verdant burst we know as spring, tra-la. As Kin Hubbard used to say, spring brings out the saps.

The Mailbag

This department belongs to The People. Letters to the editor on various subjects are welcomed and will be published, provided they do not contain abusive and personal references. Their publication does not necessarily imply the opinions they express are shared by The Journal. Letters must be signed, although signatures will be omitted upon request.

AIRPLANE CRASHES

To the Editor: Regarding the last few airplane wrecks. During the time, not so long ago, the newspapers had accounts all over the front page about the army pilots killed during the mail maneuvers. They went out, I believe, in bad weather and the planes were not cabin jobs like these passenger liners, but open cockpit jobs.

Some newspapers hollered about the government taking business away from private individuals and needless killing of pilots.

What have they to say about these last few plane wrecks that killed about 35 in less than two months? GEORGE M. DUNN.

LIKES THE JOURNAL

To the Editor: We very much enjoy Mr. Robb's column and always get things of interest and helpfulness from it. We also enjoy many other features.

In fact, we have learned to like your Journal so well that we would feel lost without it.

GRANT HENDERSON.

What Other Editors Say

HIS OWN TRAP

(San Francisco Chronicle)

There is a touch of irony in the case of the counterfeiter caught here by secret service agents, passing imitation silver dollars on bartenders. The trick was to throw down a good dollar with a genuine inside. It is the old story of the crook catching himself in his own trap. The sleuth can make a hundred blunders and still be undefeated. The crook has to make only one, and sooner or later he makes it, under the law of averages.

One Man's Opinion

By R. F. PAINE

Judging by the hot debates in congress over Roosevelt's proposed court reforms, one would think that that body imagines that it has power to decide something without resort to the long process of constitutional amendment to which Roosevelt objects.

Observe the propositions which congress seems likely to endorse:

To persuade lawyers to resign something they have once got hold of. Something like a match for Hercules' labor in cleaning the Augean stables.

Reform by resignation failing, pack the court. A dangerous proceeding, no matter who the president or what the provocation. Nothing like it since Grant's time, some 70 years ago. Court reform at the cost of dictatorship. Government by an oligarchy of five lawyers returned into government by dictatorship; and, democracy will not survive for long under either.

Next to Roosevelt, no man has so strong hold upon the confidence of the people as has Nebraska's Grand Old Man, Senator Norris, grave-digger for the racketeering "Lame Duck Congress" and able, loyal exponent of the people's rights to the national resources. Norris favors legislation stipulating that the supreme court shall not hold acts of congress unconstitutional except by more than two-thirds vote. Also, says Norris, no judge should be given life tenure, "beyond reach of the people."

Fellow citizen: Propositions a plenty, and you can favor what suits you. Oratory, a plenty, and you can absorb it as you like.

And whatever our congress enacts finally goes to the U. S. supreme court, which, it is guessed, will reform the judiciary, including itself. In fact, there is just one thing that the congress can do that may not have to run the gamut of the judiciary which has denied the people their constitutional rights to govern themselves, and that exception is to submit an amendment to the constitution. A long road for reform to travel?

Yes. The founders intended that there should be no change in the foundation stones of their new building without due and deliberate consideration by the people of the urgent need of it. They were wise. Their country was as badly split up into sections, elements and special interests as ours is now.

Mr. Roosevelt visions speedy reform of the judiciary. He is apt to run up against some judicial speed limits and red lights.

Around and About Town

St. Valentine's day has come and it's gone, but not without leaving some evidence. So far as my mail is concerned only a fragment of the lovers' festival appeared. Only one lone love note arrived. The rest of the valentines run to villainy, pettiness, raspberries, and decayed vegetables—which, convinced me that long ago it may have been a Spanish custom, but has become so modernized and so vulgarly familiar that you wouldn't think the birds ever mated, or the boys and girls ever drew names at the Lupercal in honor of Juno Februaria.

But when an unknown admirer sends me a message about "one friendly look from your bright eyes is a valentine I'd dearly prize," it makes me feel like climbing a tree and start to sing: tweet, tweet, tweet, only I have no confidence in the Darwinian theory, and anyway it isn't necessary to make a monkey out of myself. I know a lot of fellows who would like to do that for me, or are even willing to confess that it has already been done.

The little lace valentines with open shutters through which little Romeo could find his way to the heart of some lovely maiden—maybe a matron—were as conspicuous for their absence as a Republican postmaster under Jim Farley's administration. I prefer the "vals" with a little mischief in 'em, a small bag of satchel, something amorous, the enticing kind, but maybe age has something to do with that preference. Yars and yars ago the burlesque and the insinuation the deep anatomy of all through it—but with the passing days you got used to it, and while the softer valentine was more acceptable the other kind sort o' lost their sting.

One fellow sends me a valentine with a picture of a specialist climbing a ladder until he reaches the top of my cranium. The application of a magnifying glass reveals a void. It's all right with me if the scientist falls off the ladder. No hard feelings. Another jealous individual offers a "hen pecked" variety. If he really believes that he can settle with my wife, I get along with her all right. I'm not so sore about the one with the "baby" occupying a preferred position in the old man's chair, but if she sends me a valentine to get a fur coat she fails to take into account that the frost also visited my orange grove.

There's a lot of valentines which a lot of people would rather not receive. But they fail to take into account the scandalum magnatum entering into the affair, and as long as the dignity is on the receiving instead of the sending end they should worry. And it's all good clean fun, so why let it tip your equilibrium, or spoil a day. Valentines wouldn't be going to get a fur coat she fails to take into account that the frost also visited my orange grove.

A friend sends me for a Joe Louis, not so much for color but for having the Sampsonian appeal. That's an exaggerated viewpoint. He is either unfamiliar with my meanness or pugilistic proclivities. When it comes to an exchange of fists I'm listed as a pacifist. Why, I've never even been able to qualify as a gigolo. But as a rhythmic rumble listen to this: "Steppin on the gas is quite o. k., gal, when you're in a rush to get to the hospital." That comes under the head of reckless driving, and wreckless poetry.

That's about all there is to the comic valentine contribution, which improved the postal receipts to the extent of 18 cents. It's an ill wind that does not blow something into the United States treasury, either by St. Valentine or the income tax department. So you see if the squirrels don't get you the government will.

The California Fruit Growers exchange has adopted resolutions in appreciation of Floyd Young's frost reports. They were like getting bad news for a good cause. The warnings forewarned and forearmed the citrus grower, who fought with both natural and physical resources to defeat the enemy, and succeeded to some extent. The "extent" we will not know until the packing houses send out the final payment checks. But it's a cinch without Young's warnings that the loss would have been much greater. The particular property in which I operate is not frost protected, but I thank Young for the other fellow.

And then there was the lady who has the habit of putting her false teeth under her pillow, and forgetting them the next morning. As an emergency she has an old set, but these fell from the official location of mastication, and two teeth broke, which put her out of business. It seems that a dog has the freedom of the house during the night. When released for the morning exercise the missing false teeth were found in his possession when the owner went out to feed him. Somehow or other he always been opposed to false teeth. Under the above circumstance I know I am.
